Labor Chief Warns Bankers Against Wage Reductions

SAYS DANGER AHEAD

Hunger Knows No Laws
Declares Labor Chief—Consequences Trouble

HOUSTON, Tex., May 19.—(UP)—Continuing his vigorous campaign against wage cuts, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, warned today that "banking interests which are forcing reductions and those employers who are responding to this harmful influence must accept responsibility for a continuation of the existing unemployment situation."

Green said wage cutting already has produced a "most unfavorable economic effect," that bad as conditions have been and are "it will be infinitely worse if the nation is forced to pass through another winter of unemployment," and added, dramatically:

"Hunger knows no law. It creates a social unrest which, in turn, produces grave disorder. When such a stage is reached public opinion will not fall to hold wage cutting influences responsible for the suffering and distress which millions of men, women and children are forced to undergo."

Speaking before the convention of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, Green called upon workers "as a solemn duty" to "resist with all the power they possess the attempt of these banking interests who are seeking to enforce reductions in wages."

"In order to save employers and save industry from the evil consequences which are bound to follow such a course American labor will stand uncompromising and immovable against all attempts to lower living standards through the imposition of reduction in wages," Green declared.

Representatives of labor, he said, see as evidence of a move for a general reduction of wages recent statements by Albert H. Wiggin, president of Chase National bank; George E. Roberts, National City bank; Melvin A. Traylor, First National bank, Chicago, and representatives of the Union Trust company, Cleveland.

He said President Hoover, Secretary of Treasury Mellon, other members of the cabinet, and larger employers of labor such as James A. Farrell, United States Steel corporation, Gerald Swope, president of General Electric, many railroad executives and others are insisting upon keeping up the wage level.

Striking at the theory that wage cuts would bring prosperity, Green cited the bituminous coal industry

Red Oak Just Won't Have Racketeering

RED OAK, Ia., May 19.—(UP)—There will be no racketeering in the grave-digging business at Red Oak from now on.

The city council has awarded all sepulchre-making contracts to the cemetery sexton and has arbitrarily clipped $2.50 from the price.

Henceforth rates for babies will be $5 instead of $7.50; for middle sized persons, $7.50 instead of $10; and for those of generous proportions, $12.50 instead of $15.

Lot owners may dig their own graves, the council decided, without paying the usual fees.

U. S. TREASURY DEFICIT NEAR BILLION TODAY

Visions of Possible Tax Increase Raised When Figures Released

WASHINGTON, May 19.—(UP)—President Hoover's economy drive was spurred on by a realistic development today when the treasury balance sheet turned up with a deficit of $973,870,592.23.

Visions of a possible tax increase were raised by this mounting figure as the bookkeepers of four government departments—navy, treasury, post office and agriculture—made ready to face Mr. Hoover with their budgets. They will be called to account individually at successive week end conferences at the Rapidan camp before the end of the fiscal year, June 30.

With two department conferences already over, Mr. Hoover's saving prospect has been somewhat disheartening.

To dig deeper into federal expenditures would interfere with the expansion program to which Mr. Hoover is wedded as a step to counteract the business depression.

A little over $4,000,000 in the savings planned in the interior, while war department economies are hardly expected to boost this figure above $10,000,000.

With $974,000,000 needed to make the books balance, the $10,000,000 saving prospect has been somewhat disheartening.

To dig deeper into federal expenditures would interfere with the expansion program to which Mr. Hoover is wedded as a step to counteract the business depression.

Car Accidents In State Show Gain For Four Months

SACRAMENTO, May 19.—(UP)—A sharp increase in the death toll from automobile accidents in California during the last four months today led E. Raymond Cato, superintendent of the state highway patrol, to announce that drastic action must be taken to reduce accidents.

Unless concerted action is taken, Cato said, California will have the highest accident and death record in its history for 1931.

Some 556 persons were killed and 10,717 persons injured in 8058 accidents during the first quarter this year, as compared with 7000 accidents in the same period last year.

Report Of Gold Strike Fails To Interest Miners

COLFAX, Calif., May 19.—(UP)—News of a "rich" gold strike on property of the Golden Streak mine leased by a Long Beach group headed by E. H. Boley was greeted with skepticism today by veteran mining men of Placer county.

The company claims that it has located the Longpoint channel, a rich producer for many years with ore running $100 to the foot. The channel was relocated near the old Jupiter mine, from which more than $2,000,000 in gold has been taken.

Chicago Is Flat Broke Says Mayor

Financial Condition Acute and Bankers Refuse to Loan More Money

CHICAGO, May 19.—(UP)—The financial condition of Chicago and Cook county became so acute today that bankers and politicians pleaded with each other to "figure some way out quickly before we all collapse together."

While 15 bankers were meeting last night with county Treasurer McDonald and informing him that they had done "absolutely all they could," Mayor Anton J. Cermak was telling a group of politicians that the city really was "broke" and that something had to be done at once.

"Conditions are so bad," the mayor said, "that I wish the newspapers would quit talking about it until we can find a way out."

The bankers echoed and said it was no news to them and that, as a matter of fact, they were holding notes which was proof enough to them that the county had been broke for some time.

"We have lent so much money already to keep the schools open that state examiners say we are violating the law," declared G. A. Stevenson, president of the Bank of Harvey.

O'Connor replied that nevertheless the county had to have money or "quit operating" and that unless a large amount of cash could be secured within a month many schools must close. He pointed out that despite "chaotic" financial conditions here, the debt of Cook county was smaller, in proportion, than in most counties in the country.

Alfred Austrian, attorney for the Continental Illinois bank, answered O'Connor forcibly. He urged the bankers to "pass the buck" right back to the politicians and charged that the political leaders had made no "honest effort" to remedy existing conditions.

"You have argued at length to get us to take tax anticipation warrants," said Austrian. "Mr. O'Connor is the best talker on the county needs in the county. We listened

Bottle Of Poison Sent Beauty Held For Killing Mate

NICE, France, May 19.—(UP)—A fanatic sent a bottle of poison to Mrs. Charlotte Nixon-Niedlinger, St. Louis beauty queen, who goes on trial on a manslaughter charge tomorrow for the killing of her husband. The vial was intercepted by prison authorities.

An accompanying letter in disguised handwriting said:

"As one who loved and admired you in vain, and whose love is now turned to loathing, I send you this present in order to enable you to do justice to yourself because, as the world knows, jury tomorrow will not do justice."

I. C. C. Examiner Opposes Purchase Of Railway Line

WASHINGTON, May 19.—(UP)—Denial of the proposed acquisition of the St. Louis Southwestern Railway company by the Southern Pacific was recommended today to the Interstate Commerce commission in a report proposed by Examiner Thomas F. Sullivan.

Sullivan said that the consideration proposed to be paid for the capital stock of the Cotton Belt was not just and reasonable and that no evidence had been presented to show that the acquisition was in the public interest.

NATIVE SONS CAMPAIGN
MONTEREY, Calif., May 19.—(UP)—The third vice presidency of the grand parlor, Native Sons of the Golden West, which automatically leads to the presidency, was sought by four candidates today at the resumption of the annual convention here.

J. Hartley Russell, of San Francisco, was advanced as a "dark horse" opponent of Ben Harrison, San Bernardino; Irving Gibson, Sacramento, and Charles A. Koenig, of San Francisco, who launched their campaigns when the conference opened yesterday.

FEDERAL DRY AGENTS SWEEP DOWN ON CITY OF LAS VEGAS

LAS VEGAS, Nev., May 19.—(UP)—The town of Las Vegas, an oasis where saloons ran wide open without a state liquor enforcement law, was as arid today as the surrounding sagebrush after federal agents closed 27 saloons and arrested more than 125 persons.

Acting upon instructions from Washington to "dry up" the "little Juarez" of southern Nevada in advance of the rush of thousands of workmen here for construction of Boulder dam, a force of 50 prohibition agents descended late yesterday upon the town, and for 12 hours staged the greatest "cleanup in the history of the state."

There was no opportunity for the bootleggers and saloon keepers to escape for warrants had been prepared in advance on information gained by undercover operators. Roads leading into the town were guarded to prevent the escape of offenders.

Thousands of barrels of moonshine were seized and dumped. Some one touched a match to the pile. Fire which followed threatened several business establishments near the center of town.

Going from door to door, agents herded their prisoners to an improvised "bull pen" near the Brown Derby saloon. The city jail was inadequate. Among the prisoners were 12 women. All were released on bail.

Among the saloons closed were Liberty's Last Stand, Hon-club Inn, Green Lantern, Motor Club, Blue Goose, Brown Derby, Red Rooster Night Club and Bungalow Inn.

The raiding party was headed by Col. George Seivers, assistant prohibition administrator, of San Francisco, and L. W. Peters, deputy administrator of Los Angeles.

in Certain Parts of Illinois Monday

CHICAGO, May 19.—(UP)—Wide spread showers and cooling winds today ended summer's first heat wave after temperatures in many midwestern cities had climbed to their highest mark thus far in 1931.

A maximum of 86 degrees was reached yesterday in Chicago, while in Springfield, Ill., the mercury climbed to 89 and in numerous other cities marks of 90 or higher were recorded unofficially.

The death of Gerald A. Swaine, 52, in Kansas City was attributed directly to the heat.

AL CAPONE FACES INCOME TAX TRIAL

CHICAGO, May 19.—(UP)—The federal government's successful prosecution of Capone gangsters on charges of income tax fraud may shortly be turned upon "Scarface" himself, United States Attorney George E. O. Johnson told a men's club in revealing the income of the Capone gang.

Figures presented by Johnson showed the 1925 income for the Capone syndicate to be $1,717,532; for 1926, $800,492; for 1927, $1,787,436 and 1928, $1,641,979.

Capone faces a contempt of court hearing in June and federal authorities have predicted that he will shortly afterward be tried.

Their victims who were chloroformed, bound and gagged, were Mrs. Joseph E. Huber, 60, Mrs. M. A. Johnson, 60, and H. P. Huber, 30.

The youthful bandits at first gave names of John Bradley and Robert Hamilton, St. Louis, Mo.

WILL ROGERS says:

MOJAVE, May 19.—[To the Editor of The Register:] When I come through North Carolina the other day they were trying every means known to devilment and science to get their Legislature to resign. Well, California's finally exhausted yesterday after 3500 bills were introduced, 1450 unsuccessfully (that many passed.) Now no State can possibly have that many things wrong with it. And, of course, they turned down the only modern, up-to-date and sensible one of the whole 3500. It would have gotten the State more favorable comment than all the others put together. That was to get Gov. Rolph an airplane. In a big State like this, how do they expect him to get around—on a bicycle?

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

SIXTH PERSON KILLED TODAY IN WASHINGTON

Police Informer Shot Down As He Enters Door of His Home

WASHINGTON, May 19.—(UP)—Jack Cunningham, 50, police informer, was shot today, climaxing a two day outbreak of shootings in the capital during which six persons were shot and killed and two others seriously wounded.

WEATHER CAUSES ACUTE FIRE MENACE

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—(UP)—Warm weather, low humidity, northerly winds and the extremely dry, tinder-like of the country-side has resulted in an acute fire menace, the weather department warned today.

Numerous fires, including a score of brush fires, kept California fire fighters hustling during the night. Brush and grass fires were reported at Five Mills House, Fort Baker, Marin county, near Monterey and in several eastbay districts.

But when the great day arrived, and more going around with their noses in the air sniffing tanbark, Herbert III was discovered in bed with a cold germ as his most intimate associate.

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

The best thing you ever did unintentionally bear no fruit in your soul; it is the worst thing you ever did through mistaken judgment, when your intentions were high and fine, and ultimately work out for good. You are responsible for what you try to do, not for what you accomplish.

Apply this to your broken spirit and bleeding heart. It will comfort you (and ultimately inspire you) to realize that, even if you think that you can not accomplish some of the things you envisioned when your heart was full of joy and hope, and even if you fail to do some of the things you are now attempting to do, the only thing that counts with God is a worthy motive and sincere endeavor.

In God's sight you are what you are trying to become. Take hope from this fact. It means that you are winning when you thought you were being worsted.

O. A. Fisher, officiating. Interment in Fairhaven cemetery.

The three are Tloczynski, champion of Jugo-Slavia; Kukuljevic, Polish champ; and Mme. Korotzkivova, woman champ of Czechoslovakia.

At Orange—special meeting of Santa Ana Lodge No. 241, F. & A. M., Wednesday, May 20th, 1931, at 7:30 p. m., to confer the Third degree. A big surprise for all. All Master Masons cordially invited Refreshments.

URGENT REMOVING INSTITUTIONS FROM POLITICS

Incensed by the recent removal of several superintendents of state institutions to make places for political friends of the administration of Governor Rolph, a state-wide committee of citizens has begun an active campaign for the adoption in California of a new law which would take these institutions out of politics.

The movement began soon after the dismissal without a hearing of Kenyon J. Scudder as head of the Whittier School for Boys, and gained added force when Dr. J. M. Toner, state director of public institutions, discharged Dr. Ritchie of the Mendocino State hospital, Dr. Sisson of the Napa State hospital, Fred Hebergall at the Oakland Industrial Home for the Blind, and Dr. Leonard at the Pacific Colony for Children.

Unanimous support of the committee's campaign has been given by the Los Angeles County Medical Association's Board of Councilors, which voted a resolution stating: "That, 'the Los Angeles County Medical association, consisting of over 2000 members, is opposed to any policy which has in effect the removal of medical officers for political expediency, as being destructive to the best interests of the unfortunate charges of the state and to the medical service and scientific growth of these institutions.'"

"We deplore any action that would expose our state hospitals to the evils of political patronage and urge upon those responsible for their efficient operation the establishment of the highest possible qualifications for those in charge of medical administration."

The resolution reported by Dr. Granville MacGowan, chairman, pointed out that the association was "in sympathy with any movement designed to establish higher standards of efficiency in state institutions."

Adoption of the resolution by a unanimous vote came after the councilors heard reports that public institutions were being placed in charge of inexperienced men, merely because they were part of the Rolph "machine" and that Dr. Toner is at present conducting a "snooping" campaign for the purpose of gathering any kind of evidence as an excuse for dismissal of still other efficient and trained state employees.

As an example, the medical association was told of the appointment of Claude S. Smith to replace Scudder at the Whittier boys' school. Smith, it was reported, is a former Texas sheriff, who has had no experience in handling boys, and has already made changes detrimental to the conduct of Whittier. Another example, the council was told, was that of Lewis E. Davis, who was named to replace Fred Hebergall as head of the Oakland Blind home, only to be removed because of apparent incompetency.

As an example, the appointment of John J. Crowley as the head of Mendocino Hospital for the Insane at Talmage. Crowley's only experience regarding the insane was when he acted as prescription clerk in a hospital some years ago. Recently he has been running a retail drug store.

Dr. Romney M. Ritchie, superintendent at Mendocino State hospital, an old and experienced doctor in state institutions, was called upon by Dr. Toner, who demanded his immediate resignation. "What are the charges or your dissatisfaction?" asked Ritchie. "No charges or dissatisfaction," said Toner, "but we promised the job before election."

As a constructive suggestion for remedying the present situation, the committee, headed by Elmer R. Murphy of Pasadena, is proposing a state law patterned after the New York statute. Al Smith while governor helped put this law on the books to protect the helpless inmates of state institutions.

Dr. George Dock of Pasadena, and Dr. George Hunter, member of the Medical Board of State Councilors, have been appointed to draft the new law.

The New York law provides for a commissioner of mental hygiene and a competent staff, all of whom must have had wide experience in public institutions of this kind. Other provisions of the law include:

"A board of seven 'visitors' for each institution, one appointed each year, which is to inspect the homes and hear any charges against a superintendent or employee, recommending action to the commissioner; to serve without pay;

At least five years experience for any superintendent, who cannot be removed except for cause and after he has been heard;

Employees to be placed under civil service, with only assistant superintendents being allowed to take the examination for superintendent, and commissioners to be appointed by the governor from the superintendents of the various state institutions."

A similar law also is in operation in Massachusetts.

HEAD OPPOSES ANY CHANGE AT SANTIAGO DAM

Objection to any agreement on the part of the supervisors to proceed with changes at the dam now being constructed on Santiago creek by the Carpenter and Serrano Irrigation districts in conjunction with the Irvine company, to prepare for any construction as part of the proposed flood control program in the plan which recently was recommended by a board of engineers headed by G. A. Elliott, was voiced before the board of supervisors today by Horace Head, representing the Anaheim Union Water company. At the same time Harry Hale, president of the Anaheim Union Water company, expressed himself as being personally opposed to the entire new plan, after making it clear to the board that he was not talking for the company.

Attorney Head informed the board that the Anaheim water company had adopted a resolution at a meeting last night protesting against any agreement in connection with changes at the Santiago dam in anticipation of a flood control program there, which would obligate the county to pay any part of the cost of the construction of any part of the dam or changes which might be made in line with recommendations of the flood control engineers.

The dam is being built as a water conservation project by the irrigation districts and the Irvine company and changes to make it comply with specifications for a flood control dam as well as contained in the recent report can be made while the dam is being constructed at a cost of between $20,000 and $25,000, whereas it is claimed the costs would be three times as great if they were not made until after the dam was completed in the event the county adopted the flood control program and did the recommended work on Santiago creek. A suggestion for some kind of a working agreement along this line was made to the board of supervisors several weeks ago by representatives of the irrigations districts. The districts agreed to put up the money in an effort to save the county unnecessary expense and take a change on the adoption of the flood control program in getting it back.

Supervisor Willard Smith answered the protest presented by Attorney Head today in behalf of the water company by stating he believed the matter had been misinterpreted and that no money would be paid to the irrigation districts unless the bonds were passed on the plan and that by doing it now it would mean a saving that would benefit the water companies and the entire county.

Hale in presenting his protest to the proposition declared he believed the board would be morally obligated to submit such a proposition to the voters for their action.

Hale then turned his attention to the new flood control report and voiced personal protest to the recommendations of the engineers. He declared that he favored the Bailey plan which was submitted two years ago and which located the proposed dam and reservoir on the Santa Ana river at the lower site, rather than at the upper site which the new report provides. "The engineers are vague as to the effect of storing water at the upper site," he declared. He went on to say that if the supervisors had any idea they could negotiate a compromise agreement they were mistaken and that the water companies were determined to protect their rights.

When asked by The Register in the past for a statement on the new report, Hale had refused to make any until after the water companies had met and discussed the report and studied it. It was stated today by A. N. Saxton, of Orange, an official of the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company,

PLAN RECOMMENDED BY GROUP OF ENGINEERS PROVIDES FOR RESERVOIR IN CARBON CANYON

Flood control on Carbon creek, as recommended in the new Orange county flood control report, which was presented to the board of supervisors last month by the board of engineers headed by G. A. Elliott, calls for construction of a reservoir with 2500 acre feet capacity, located a mile and a half above Olinda, and a conduit to carry overflow waters to the Santa Ana river channel. The plan is practically the same as that presented in the 1929 flood control report.

Carbon creek is one of three streams draining the Puente Hills. It has a drainage area of 18 square miles and the report advises that comparatively low rainfall and the absorbent nature of the watersheds is not conducive to large annual production of water, although it is possible for intense rainfall of short duration, following a rain which has already saturated the soil of the drainage area, to produce floods of limited duration but of high crest flows.

The stream formerly discharged into the old Anaheim channel of the Santa Ana river, but since the river changed its course during a great flood in the 80's and the old channel filled up, the Carbon creek flow, when it is in excess of the absorbent capacity of the channel, now spreads over the highly developed plainsland.

It is estimated that the 1927 flood, the largest of recent years, had a crest discharge of about 2500 second feet, according to the report, and the estimated crest discharge of a major flood of the type that might be expected once in every 100 years, is 4400 second feet. The report says: "Reduction of flow to a rate which can be controlled in a channel of reasonable proportions in order to avoid damage calls for storage on the stream above the point where it leaves the Puente hills. Conservation of the regulated flow necessitates the transportation of the water to an absorptive area, as none is economically available along the natural course of the channel with sufficient capacity to absorb the proposed rate of regulated flow."

An average of 1800 acre feet can be conserved annually, it is estimated by the engineers, through work on this stream. The plan calls for control on Carbon creek only, with the unregulated flow from Telegraph canyon coming in below the dam and reservoir. "The function of the storage basin," the report says, "is to regulate the run-off of the remaining Carbon drainage area to a rate which together with the unregulated flow below the dam, can be handled in the conduit provided to carry it to the Santa Ana river channel. "The amount to be handled in a flood of the type having a frequency of about once in every 100 years will be controlled to 1140 second feet, or about one-fourth of the total crest flow without flood control.

"The artificial channel begins where the stream enters the plain," the report states. "It conveys the controlled flow of the Santa Ana river and is formed by a wide leveled waterway through an undeveloped sandy absorbing area across the old channel of the river, continued by a concrete lined canal with a capacity of 1100 second feet through orchard lands to the present river channel. The channel is adequate to convey the regulated flow of all floods except those which may occur at very rare intervals. When the flow exceeds 1100 second feet the surplus will spill over a low protected section of the west bank of the leveled channel and flow down its natural course."

Plans call for construction of a dam of the rolled fill type from materials close at hand. Its maximum height will be 115 feet and it is to be 20 feet wide at the top. The upstream face is to be protected from wave wash by an oiled facing. Estimated costs of the reservoir and conduit amount to a total of $623,282 and are itemized as follows:

Reservoir: Dam 492,000 cu. yds. rolled fill, $211,100; cut-off, 27,000 cu. yds. excavation, $11,700; 2400 cu. yds. concrete, $30,400; unwatered trench, $1500; protection of upstream face, $10,000; spillway, 15,900 cu. yds. excavation, $20,600; 2400 cu. yds. concrete, $42,500; reservoir outlet, 500 cu. yds. excavation, $2100; 200 cu. yds. concrete, $4100; trash rack, $1100; relocation of county highway, $60,000; relocation of gas line, $13,500; sub-total, $493,600; incidentals, contingencies and administration, $61,300; land, 63 acres, $12,000; total for reservoir, $481,900.

Conduit: excavation, $4,220 cu. yds., $20,555; embankment, 26,000 cu. yds., $5760; reinforced concrete, 979 cu. yds., $19,381; gunite lining, 375,300 sq. ft., $45,936; oil slopes, 6250 sq. ft., $1595; road crossing, $1000; sub-total, $91,927; contingencies, engineering and overhead, $13,790; land—right of way, $5,665; total for conduit, $141,382; grand total, $623,282.

that the two water companies had not as yet had their joint meeting. The new report on flood control stated definitely that location of the dam and reservoir at the upper site would not only not adversely affect the rising waters of the stream, but that on the contrary it would be a benefit.

will be held in connection with the meeting. An outline of the program for the coming year will be discussed. A member of the Poultrymen's Co-operative association of Los Angeles will be present and will outline purchasing methods of the association and costs of feed.

Former residents of Anderson, Ind., will hold an all day picnic Sunday, May 24 at Bixby park in Long Beach, according to announcement made today.

LODGE MEMBERS MEET AT BAKERY

Kilpatrick's bakery on North Main street was the scene of a gay party Saturday night when the bakery company entertained the members of Jubilee lodge, F. & A. M., their families and friends.

Manager C. J. McDowell of the Kilpatrick plant, himself a member of Jubilee lodge, acted as host. Part of the big main floor had been cleared for a ball-room and here, after the whole party had inspected the plant, a part of the gathering danced the hours away. The music was furnished by The Ramblers orchestra, of Costa Mesa, its members being Miss Phyllis Allen, Bud Baker, D. B. Pierce, Bob Fuller and Hyatt Graham.

An up-stairs room had been arranged as a card room and here some 40 or 50 persons spent the hours with bridge.

In another room the children were gathered and entertained with motion pictures, a varied screen program keeping them happily occupied for two hours.

At about 11 p. m., lunch was served on long tables decorated with baskets of flowers. Mesdames Gladys Collins, Ada Sutherland, H. J. Lamb and Nellie Pagenkopp assisted by making the sandwiches.

It doesn't always take police officers to make arrests, as witnessed by the case of Guy O. Kiser, 38, a cook, of 619 East 10th street, Long Beach, who was booked at the county jail at 12:25 a. m. today by L. H. Lawrence, also of Long Beach. Lawrence is a citizen.

Kiser was booked on a charge of failure to stop and render aid after an automobile accident, and was brought to the jail by Lawrence, Mrs. Lawrence and another man, officers said.

The Lawrence did not report where the accident had occurred, but that Kiser had failed to stop after the crash and that they had captured him. They said they would be back today to sign a complaint against him. No report of the accident has been made in Santa Ana.

THIEVES MOVE IN AS FAMILY ABSENT

Burglars, taking advantage of the fact that the residents of 1608 West Second street were out of the city for a few days on vacation, "moved in" last night and were eating their supper when other residents of the neighborhood called the police. When officers arrived the burglars had left.

The house was ransacked from top to bottom, but there was no way to tell what, if anything was stolen. The thieves had made coffee and cooked their meal in the house and when they departed, left all the lights in the building turned on.

Captain Jess Buckles and several other officers surrounded the house, believing that the burglars were still in the place when they arrived. Hazel Bell, of 334 East Bishop street, reported to the police last night that someone entered her home yesterday afternoon and stole $5 in cash and several articles of clothing, while she was away for a short time.

PASTOR SAYS GOD IS ALWAYS WITH HIS CHILDREN

EL MODENA, May 19.—The Rev. Joseph Reese, pastor of the El Modena Friends church, has been giving a series of sermons on the messages which were sent to the churches, as given in Revelations. The subject was "Thyatira." The lesson was found in Revelations 2:18-23. The Rev. Mr. Reese said in part:

"I have no special text tonight, but I want to call your attention to some special thoughts in these few verses. John says, 'These things saith the Son of God.' John gives a picture of the Son of God. 'Who hath his eyes like unto a flame of fire,' and whenever we find fire, we think how it refines gold, consumes dross, and burns up the trash; we use the fire to purify. God reads our hearts, and reveals to us, how we may clean them up, and get the faults out of the way. 'His feet are like brass.' His feet are shod with shoes that are able to tread in rough places; like burnished brass—nothing is able to withstand the walk of our God.

"He asks no favor, but to put God first. I know thy works, thy charity, I want to ask you, if when you have gone through some severe test, when you have labored until physically worn out, and when eventide came, the thought came to you, that God knew all about it. What a comfort it is! God knows every heartache, every trial, all weaknesses. Some misunderstand, but friends, what a comfort it is to look up. All joys and pleasures, He knows, and so I think it must have comforted this church, which had labored, and sent their gifts. He knew the service they had done."

VILLA PARK, May 19.—At the Sunday morning service at the Villa Park Community church, Charles W. Morrow and Mrs. Morrow gave short talks on the Congregational conference which they attended in company with Dr. W. M. Tipple, pastor. The conference was held at Ontario and was well attended by Congregationalists all over Southern California. Dr. Tipple gave a report of several of the speeches, one of which was given by a man from Mexico, who spoke in Spanish, and his address was given in English by an interpreter. The theme of the conference was "The Living Church in an Age of Confusion."

Dr. Tipple announced as his text Philippians 3:14, "I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus." He said in part:

"We read away back in the Old Testament of the Hebrew children, that instead of taking a short cut to the Promised Land, they went on a long, long journey. Instead of the near, quick way, southeastward into the desert, they wandered. We know the history of their wanderings; something like their wanderings, is life itself, today, and the life of the church today. Sometimes we ask ourselves, Why not the short, easy way, without hardship and temptations? But there is many a valley of shadow and humiliation, and mountains of struggle and stumbling, through deserts of spiritual thirst and hunger.

"Yes, life is like that, but there is always one comforting thing—we can see only one way, but God can see both ways. Perhaps we need the hard experiences and the discipline that come to us. Dr. Francis was once asked what university he attended. And after a moment of hesitation, he answered, 'The University of Adversity.' And we, going through there, learn the great lessons of life. The Hebrews did not know how to conduct themselves as freemen—they had been slaves in Egypt. They did not know how to obey, to command, to go forward, to fight, to worship. Their wanderings and trials made for character development. 'Strong character comes by the process of the tempered steel, the fire, the water and the heavy hammer on the hard anvil of life.' Remember God is always with His children. We are bound to win if we go courageously forward, not by ourselves, but with God."

Orange Personals

ORANGE, May 19.—Mr. and Mrs. Merle Jessup and son, of Banning, were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Miller, of South Cambridge street.

The Lydia Killefer P. T. A. will give a reception for all past presidents at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The school exhibit will be from 2 o'clock to the time of meeting of the P. T. A. Light refreshments will be served.

End your foot troubles and your wife's worries by soaking your feet for 20 minutes in a Radox bath—the new oxygen treatment that draws from the millions of foot pores all the poisons and acids—the cause of all distress and agony. MEN'S CLUB OF ORANGE ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

ORANGE, May 19.—Officers were elected at the final meeting for the year for the Men's club. M. M. Fishback was chosen president, W. C. Armstrong was re-elected as secretary and the executive board will include W. M. Cummings, who has served as president for some years; D. C. Drake and L. W. Thompson. The report of the nominating committee was presented by Lucien Flippin.

At a brief business session the dues were set at $1.50 a year, payable in advance and the next meeting of the club will be held September 15. Plans are being made for a membership of 100 at this time.

In a brief talk given before the program W. M. Cummings outlined the aims and objectives of the club. "The club is not a business men's club," Cummings declared, "and the members believe they have found a niche somewhere between the service club and the church club, a club which will function for social betterment and brotherhood."

Cummings thanked Ronald Boring for the gladioluses which were used about the parish hall of the Trinity Episcopal church where the meeting took place, and thanked the members of the press for their cooperation during the past year.

More than 125 were present and the dinner was served by women of the Trinity guild.

Later in the evening, the Rev. John Donnell made a short talk. The Rev. Mr. Donnell, who is soon to leave Orange for San Pedro, spoke of the enjoyment he had received from the meetings. While the club might not be a church club, he said, no program had ever been given which might not fittingly take place in a church building.

Alfred Higgins of the Orange union high school faculty was introduced. Higgins has been at the head of the commercial department of the Orange union high school for the past 25 years and has been a teacher for a period of 33 years. In introducing him Cummings said the veteran teacher, who has been a regular attendant at the Men's club meetings, will retire at the close of the present school year.

Water Costs More Than Gasoline In Spanish Village

SAN CLEMENTE, May 19.—Who would have thought that gasoline would be cheaper in San Clemente than drinking water. But it's a fact. Distilled drinking water is sold here for 60 cents a five-gallon bottle, while five gallons of gasoline cost but 55 cents.

San Clemente service station owners state they believe the present low price of gas will continue during the summer.

But back to water. Sam Millen, owner of a service station here, says that water is an expensive product of his business. He fills batteries as part of his service and this, with the high cost of water costs him money. So it even costs money to give water away.

Juanita Frazee, James Hawkins Of Fullerton to Wed

FULLERTON, May 19.—Miss Juanita Frazee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Frazee, 811 West Commonwealth avenue, Fullerton, will be married in July to James Hawkins, of Fullerton, according to announcement made when Mrs. Iver Hardy entertained at a court whist party in her new Spanish home, 505 East Wilshire Ave.

When the card scores were added, Miss Doris Griffin received as first prize a whisk broom in dresser or doll disguise. Miss Virginia Shaw, second, was given a little china statuette. When Miss Edna Griffin unwrapped her consolation award, it proved to be a cupid-in-the-box, holding an arrow pierced heart with the names of the engaged couple.

RESOURCES OVER 65 MILLION DOLLARS

A LAW THAT CAN'T BE REPEALED . . .

THE LAW of supply and demand can't be repealed. It decrees that when a commodity is scarce the price goes up; and when it is plentiful the price goes down.

Money is no exception. Today it is plentiful—and as a consequence the cost of money is declining.

Since investors and financial institutions, alike, can't change the law of supply and demand, they must either modify their ideas of safety or of yield. Conservative investors and financial institutions will continue to make safety the prime consideration and adjust yield accordingly. That is what Pacific States Savings proposes to do.

We will continue to maintain our large cash reserves, although we can no longer secure our accustomed yield on them. We will continue to attract the choicest loans in our field, by offering loan rates that are an inducement for this type of security. We will continue the other distinctive safeguards that have attracted 80 thousand prudent savings customers.

The maintenance of these protective factors necessitates the following revision of our interest schedule:

5% interest compounded semi-annually will be paid on all funds placed on and after June 1, in accumulative certificates for savings (pass book form).

Funds placed on and after June 1 in Full Paid Certificates for Savings, or in Definite Term Certificates with two to five year maturities, will yield slightly higher rates.

Funds now with the institution will continue to earn their present rate of interest undisturbed until customers are individually notified to forward their certificates for renewal under the new terms. They will be so advised at least thirty days prior to such renewal.

A 5% yield, when coupled with demonstrated safety, is distinctly attractive under today's conditions. Here you may earn this 5% yield with marked convenience.

You have a ready means of employing funds as you amass them, and may draw your interest for income or let it compound.

Your funds are free from personal property taxes in California. You pay no brokerage when you purchase or dispose of your certificates.

And, of greatest importance, your principal is not subject to fluctuation or shrinkage.

NEW DRILLING OUTFIT MOVED TO DEEP WELL

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 19.

The Superior Oil company has moved a rotary drilling outfit to its Fee No. 1 well, first well drilled to the 7500 foot sand in this field and located at Nineteenth and Walnut. There is much speculation in the field as to why the Superior has again moved back to Fee No. 1.

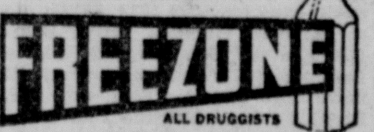

The company is not putting out any information but it is not felt among oil men that the Superior will bring in its deep well as the first well to open the deep sand. The Superior has set its nine inch casing in the Fifteenth street well on the ocean front. It is reported unofficially that the Fifteenth street well has as good a deep sand as the Fee No. 1. The Gillette No. 7 well is not in as good condition, due to mechanical troubles, it is said.

The McCaslin well at Twenty-first and Olive is still grinding away, a couple of hundred feet deeper than the Superior wells. The McCaslin well is to be brought in a producer if it is possible to do so, as McCaslin refuses to cap his well or abandon it if he can bring it in. The well is less than three inches. The Superior wells have set nine inch below 6500 feet and will go into the deep sand at 7500 feet with six inch casing when the company is ready to bring them in.

Aching Kidneys Made Strong or Money Refunded

If kidneys and bladder have become weak, irritated—causing sleeplessness, painful urination and back-breaking aches, look out for trouble.

For prompt, effective relief ask your druggist for a box of Wildunger Tee, containing valuable kidney-activating salts from the famous Wildunger Bad, in Germany. This mild European medicine helps more than a ton of harsh drugs, say many physicians who prescribe it. In fact, so sure are the importers of this amazing preparation that you'll be overjoyed at the relief it brings that they have instructed druggists to refund every penny unless you're delighted.

Even high blood pressure, rheumatic aches, pains, stiffness and swelling, and acid indigestion quickly respond to Wildunger Tee. Get a big box today. Use it faithfully. If you're not absolutely convinced that you are getting well after taking only one box, your money back.

You can get Wildunger Tee from C. E. Kelley, Druggist, 101 E. 4th Street, Santa Ana.—Adv.

Olive Challenges Stars' Winning Streak Tonight

ROAMING CAMERAMAN CATCHES SPORTS PICTURES HERE, THERE, EVERYWHERE

HEMAN OPPOSES JOE CORNELIUS IN BOWL GAME

A brilliant filip to Santa Ana's night baseball season is promised this evening when Olive's potent Packers, one of the strongest teams in the National Night league, make their bid to destroy the eight-straight winning spurt of George Lackaye's undefeated Southern California champions.

The contest has aroused so much interest that Olive officials asked to transfer it to Santa Ana's big Bowl, which accommodates more than 2000, because of the limited seating capacity of their bandbox park. It is quite possible that as many as 1500 will see the clubs collide in a game that marks the conclusion of the first quarter of the schedule.

The whole league will be pulling for the Packers tonight, and for Whittier, too, when "Rube" Ellis' Poets come to town Friday, because if Santa Ana bests both these first division opponents, the first half of the 1931 pennant race is all over but the proverbial shouting. Give the Stars a full three-game lead with only eight more to go, and nothing but a staggering breakdown will keep them out of the playoffs, in the opinion of observers.

Lackaye Confident
Manager Lackaye feels that victory tonight will really be enough. He figures his club is "in" if it begins the second round with two games to work on. He is willing to let the future take care of itself if the Stars whip the Packers.

This, of course, is easier said than done. Olive has the pitching, fielding and hitting to be an even choice against Santa Ana any time the clubs toe the mark, and furthermore has a confidence, as yet unborn in many in the league, that it can beat the Stars. Olive did it twice last summer, lost a 1-0 decision in 10 innings another time. Realization that they have beaten the champions in the past doesn't hurt Olive's chances a bit.

Impressive victories over Anaheim and Whittier in the past two weeks have stimulated Olive's determination, too. The Packers were on a rampage at Whittier Friday, knocking both Lloyd Johnson and "String" McDonnell out of the box in winning 13-4. It was said to be the first time McDonnell, regarded as the best pitcher in night ball, has ever been driven to cover.

Cornelius vs. Heman
Joe Cornelius and Rudy Heman, aces of the rival pitching staffs, are scheduled to work tonight's joust. Heman has always been a stumbling block to the Santa Anas. His curve, the best in the short-base game, has never failed to prove effective against Santa Ana's smart bunting attack and his "mixture" has usually kept the Stars' free swingers from fattening their batting averages.

Roughly handled by Anaheim last week in the poorest game the tall right hander has shown since coming here from the Imperial valley a year ago, Cornelius figures to be "right" now. Cornelius usually has splendid control and a good change of pace but against Anaheim couldn't eat the plate with his "spinner" or his "sinker" and didn't even try his slow ball which makes the other varieties more effective.

Lackaye, however, charged this to a "bad night" and let it go at that. Joe Ochoa and Earl Morrill will be ready, however, if Cornelius falters again.

Regular Lineup Due
Both teams expect to employ regular lineups. "Eeny" Wilcox will catch Cornelius and Ed Delaney will catch Scott at second, as first, Darwin Scott at second, Leavitt Daley at third and "Memphis" Hill at short will compose the infield, with Randolph Bell, Wayne Nelson and "Rosy" Merrill in the outfield.

Johnny Turry will be Heman's batterymate, with Sweet at first, Mattie second, Griffith third and Thomas short. Guenther, Shell and Keard, the latter a Santa Ana, will be in the gardens.

Game-time is 8 o'clock.
Stiff competition is reasonably assured for every other National Night league battlerfront too. One of the best games is anticipated at Huntington Beach between the Oilers and Whittier. With Howard Morning having one of his good nights it is entirely possible that Huntington Beach will win, although the Poets rank as slight favorites.

Anaheim Signs New Hurler
Anaheim fans will be particularly interested in the Anaheim-Long Beach fracas at Anaheim. Manager George Pace will bring forth still another new pitcher, Russell Coggans by name. Coggans is described as a sub-mariner with the fastest fast ball in captivity. He is also said to be a good hitter and fielder. Pace admits he Here's talent aplenty for Uncle Sam's Olympic team next summer. He's Jim Bausch—the same Jarring Jim who starred in football and basketball at Kansas. Jim won the all-around championship in the Kansas Relays, defeating "Buster" Charles, phenomenal Haskell Indian athlete. He competed for the Kansas City A. C. because of ineligibility at Kansas, where he still is a student.

ONE-MAN TEAM MAY BE STATE TRACK WINNER

VISALIA, May 18.—(UP)—More than 80 high schools are expected to send 225 athletes here Saturday for the annual State Interscholastic track and field meet, officials completing the entry list announced today.

Among the entries so far received were two breakers of world records, the Los Angeles Polytechnic 880-yard relay team, and Floyd Wilson, Riverside broad-jumper and hurdler.

Some observers said the real fight for points might be between L. A. Poly and Wilson.

Wilson, a one-man team from a one-horse town, has beaten the world's recognized interscholastic broad jump three times in two Saturdays, and is one of the best high school hurdlers in the state.

Modesto and Alameda high schools have entered the largest number of athletes, with 12 men and relay teams each, but the dopesters said L. A. Poly's most serious competition for meet honors would come from L. A. Manual Arts, Long Beach, Visalia, Sacramento and Roosevelt, Fresno.

PRESBYTERIANS IN CITY LOOP VICTORY

Opening the second week of play in the Santa Ana City Night Baseball league, the First Presbyterians outslugged the Spurgeon Memorial South Methodists, 13 to 10, in the Bowl last night.

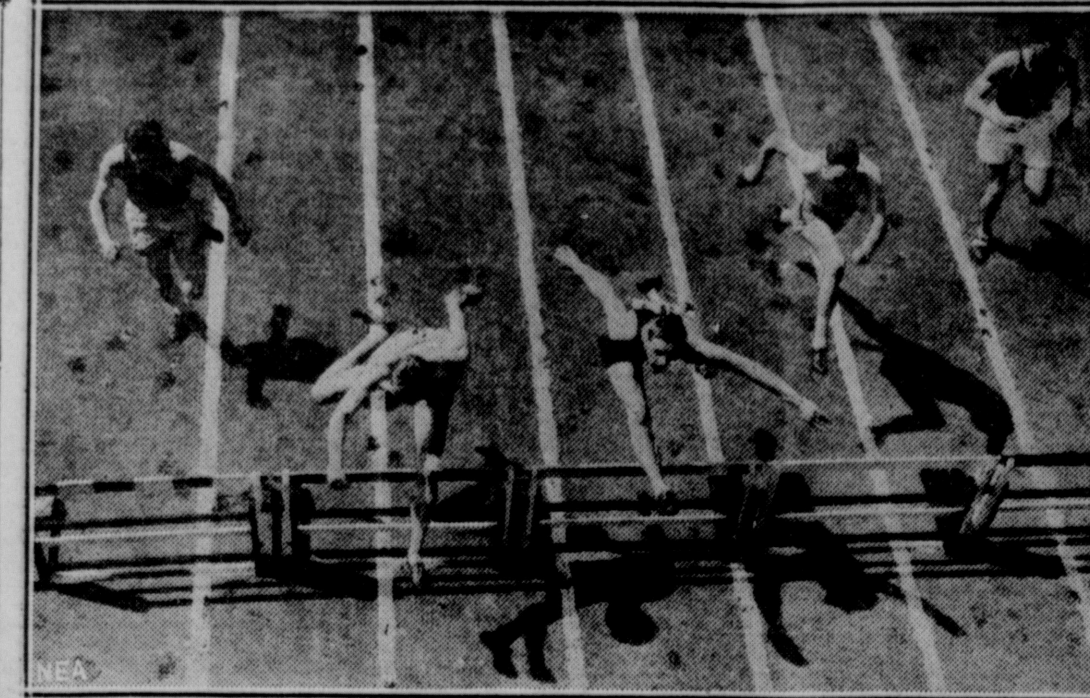

The Presbyterians scored in every inning but one off the veteran pitcher, Earl Jones. Bear, toiling for the winners, was hit hard too but tightened in the last two innings and managed to weather the storm.

Other games this week follow: Wednesday—Hawley's Sporting Goods vs. Santa Ana 20-30 Club and Monroe's Pharmacy vs. Hill and Carden; Thursday—Spurgeon Memorial South Methodists vs. Moose and First Baptists vs. First Presbyterians.

HOOKS and SLIDES William Braucher

THE OLD KNUCKLER

Two years ago Fred Fitzsimmons and Jess Haines held an indignation meeting. Fred was, and is, the knuckle-ball pitcher of the New York Giants. Jess is the knuckle-ball pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals. The talk went something like this:

"Say, Fred, what's the matter with this goofy apple (baseball)? I have tried my worst to get the darn thing to break and she just won't take the English."

"Too slick, Jess. Cover is so smooth a leech would slip off it. How are you going to make a knuckleball break if they keep giving you round chunks of ice like this to pitch?"

"And no seams on it to grip! She just won't swerve for me any more."

HAPPIER DAY

Now look at the darn thing! With the new heavier cover, raised-seam baseball to finger, see what the old knuckle ball is doing? And watch that Fred Fitzsimmons go!

This keeps up, the leading pitcher in the National league this year is almost sure to be Fitz, the black-browed Irisher from Mishawaka, Ind. Fitz finally is beginning to fulfill the time promise he brought when he came to the Giants in 1925. It was a promise.

That Doc White, ancient White Sox flinger, saw and understood 12 years ago, when he first looked over Fred, then a big high school kid from Indiana.

Fred learned how to throw a knuckle ball when he was 15 years old, playing catch at Mishawaka with a neighbor kid. White was manager of the Muskegon team and gave Fitz his first chance upon recommendation of a friend who had seen Fitz pitch in high school. Doc started him in a game against Grand Rapids, which had won 13 in a row, and Fitz turned them back.

EVERY POST WINNING ONE

After a couple of years at Muskegon, Fitzsimmons was sold to Indianapolis. In 1925, after winning 14 and losing six, he was picked up by McGraw. He went well for the Giants right off the bat, and since breaking in never has had a season in which his victories did not outnumber his defeats. Up to the beginning of the year, Fitz had won 81 and lost 50 for the Giants.

If you should be arrested for speeding through Mishawaka, you might get away with it by telling the police chief you are a good friend of Fred Fitzsimmons. The reason is that Fred's dad is the chief himself. Fred's father named him Fred Landis Fitzsimmons, the middle name being in honor of Judge Landis' brother, Henry.

During the winter Fred puts in his time on a butter and egg ranch at Arcadia, Calif., near Los Angeles. He is continuing the egg trade on into the summer, too, and that branch of it concerned with handling goose eggs to the visiting firemen.

Fitz pitched a one-hit game for Indianapolis against Milwaukee in 1925. The leadoff man smacked a two-bagger, the only hit of the game.

'GABBY' STREET SEES SIX-WAY PENNANT RACE

BY LES CONKLIN (I. N. S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, May 19.—"Sergeant Gabby" Street, grizzled manager of the champion St. Louis Cardinals, puffed complacently on an evil-smelling pipe today and opined that the National league race was going to be a five-club affair this season, with perhaps six teams in the thick of the fight.

Street does not mean the first six outfits in the league standing at this moment. While conceding Boston an outside chance to finish in the first division, he is concentrating on the same five clubs that battled down the stretch in last year's race.

Although other commentators see the Cardinals out in front like a wart on a pawnbroker's nose, "Gabby" figures the race will be as tough as his own leathery hands that caught Walter Johnson's fast ones when the Big Train was in his prime.

"We'll Be Tough"
"I'm not claiming any pennant yet, but we're gonna be tough to beat," he predicted. "The Giants are improved. McGraw is smart and resourceful and has a tough, dangerous club."

"I figure the Cubs are as good as ever. 'Hack' Wilson will hit just as well as he did last season."

"Pittsburgh lacks reserve strength but Jewel Ens has a tough ball club and will be in the thick of the race before long."

"There is a lot of power in the Brooklyn club and they will do much better. The Braves will be tough to beat if they get help at third base."

The writer's pencil was poised for two more "tough" notations opposite the names of Cincinnati and Philadelphia, but "Gabby" with extreme delicacy, refrained from commenting on these aggregations.

Raves About Rookie

Ask Street about his own club and all he can talk about is John (Pepper) Martin, the rookie outfielder who was recalled after hitting .363 for Rochester last year. Martin replaced Taylor Douthitt when the latter hurt his leg and has been going so well that Douthitt has been unable to get his job back, although he is regarded as one of the best center fielders in baseball.

"Martin is going to be one of the sensations of baseball," says Street. "He's got everything—he can hit, run and go and get 'em in the outfield. Baseball is a matter of life and death with him and he is full of ambition."

Street also is sweet on Paul Derringer, a pitcher also from Rochester. Derringer has been used for relief work only and will continue in that role unless something happens to one of the five starting pitchers—Grimes, Hallahan, Johnson, Haines and Rhen.

"I also regard Lindsey as one of the most valuable relief pitchers in the league—he is reliable and cool in the pinches," concluded Street as he cast an anxious eye toward Flint Klem, who was conversing with a stranger in a corner of the lobby.

HALF PINT PLAYS SECOND

The always colorful Notre Dame baseball team this year boasts the smallest player in western college circles. He is Haskell Askow, second base star, who weighs barely 100 pounds.

Voigt Wins In British Amateur Match

WESTWARD HO, Eng., May 19.—(UP)—George Voigt of New York, and the American favorite to win the title vacated by Bobby Jones, moved into the fourth round of the British amateur golf championship today by defeating J. R. Abercrombie of Royal Liverpool, 2 and 1, in a third round match.

"Take it or leave it" is the sum and substance of the C. I. F.'s dictum on Santa Ana high school's appeal for success in its present schedule dilemma.

Maybe the Saints will leave it. L. E. ("Pat") Bryan, former athletic coach at Julia Lathrop junior high school, is now director of athletics at Pittsburg, Cal. There he succeeded Newt Stark, another ex-Santa Ana.

A minister, the Rev. David Silvers, is the first string pitcher for Corona's night ball team. He came out of athletic retirement to aid the club when American league officials declared ineligible Walt Jordan, the big Santa Ana who recently asked for his release from Olive.

Cypress, until now the one white spot for Sunday baseball in Orange county, hasn't been supporting Steve Luther's team well so Luther closed his park.

Jimmie Rivers meets Paul DeHate in Wilmington's semi-windup tomorrow night. Cliff Caraway is on the card too. Wilmington's matchmakers see to it that some Orange county fighter is on the program each week. They have their eye on this section's patronage now that the Delhi club is dark again.

George Blaeholder has been dropping a number of tight games for the St. Louis Browns. The Garden Grove husky pitches well enough to win but his mates can't get him any runs. The other day he stopped the Yanks without a hit for six innings, only to lose in the ninth.

Bill Cook has had remarkable success since coming here to head the junior college coaching staff, but believes he will have one of his strongest football teams next fall.

Ben Eastman, lean Stanford middle distance running sensation, strides 7 feet, 8 inches. He needs only 172 of them to cover a quarter-mile. These are the figures of "Dink" Templeton, Stanford coach, one-time Santa Ana.

Don Record, Pasadena junior college quarter-miler, ran a practice race, went home complaining of a headache. He died that night. Physicians diagnosed his case as a hemorrhage of the brain. Record was one of the best 440 men in the jaycee conference.

John Wilcox said he didn't know so many persons were aware of his connection with the Santa Ana Stars until I bawled him out for scheduling games without notifying press, players or public. Wilcox took the ribbing in good spirit.

You'll probably be seeing the name of Tyrus Raymond Cobb Jr. on the sports pages, but it may not be in baseball box scores. Instead, the son of the "Georgia Peach" may become another Tilden or "Red" Grange. For tennis and football have proved to be his forte at Yale, where he's a freshman.

EXPERTS THINK TROY VICTORY IN EAST SURE

LOS ANGELES, May 19.—The big question of the day is: "Can Southern California again win the national intercollegiate track title at Philadelphia?"

The question, however, seems to bother no one except eastern skeptics, particularly around the University of Pennsylvania, for the western fan, well versed in the Trojans' strength, has been informed that the bulk of last year's point winners are still on this year's squad.

Southern California won last year's meet with 44 1/4 points. A glance at the squad roster today showed 29 1/4 points still represented in Frank Wykoff, Milton Maurer, Vic Williams, Bill McGeagh, Bill Carlis, Ernie Payne, Jim Stewart, Pete Chlentz and Bob Hall.

When the Trojans' entrain for Philadelphia Friday night to try for another title May 29 and 30, Coach Dean Cromwell will have a total of 21 men under his eagle eye.

Additional to his veterans, Cromwell has Dick Barber, William Graber, Cliff Halstead, William Stokes, Clarence Berry, Kenneth McKenzie, Duncan McNaughton, William Brannan, Roy Delby, Vic Fitzmaurice, Art Woessner and Earl Callahan.

Cromwell is not taking the boys for their health, so it must be that he has decided those 12 men can add 15 points to the possible 30 he expects of his veterans.

Here is where Cromwell is expected to score his points: 100-yard dash, six—Wykoff and Maurer.

220-yard dash, two—Delby. 440-yard dash, five—Williams. Woessner also to run. 880-yard run, two—Fitzmaurice or McGeagh.

1 Mile run, one—Halstead. Callahan also to run. Low hurdles, seven—Captain Payne and Carlis.

High hurdles, one—Stokes or Berry. Weights, three—Hall. Pole vault, six—Graber and Chlentz. Broad jump, five—Barber. High jump, three—Stewart, McNaughton and Brannan. Javelin, two—McKenzie.

That's a conservative 43 points, in the opinion of coast experts who have watched Eastern performances as well as those in California. These same experts predict Stanford and Pennsylvania will fight it out for second place, with Stanford holding the edge.

Past performances counting for much as they do in horse racing, Southern California should repeat its previous triumphs this year.

After all, California teams have won the I. C. A. A. A. meet every year for the past 10 years except in 1924 when Yale took the title.

LOS ANGELES, May 19.—(UP) The question of whether Jack Johnson, former world's heavyweight champion, still is sufficient to fit at 53 to fight in California, will be pondered tonight when "Al" Arthur goes against "Dynamite" Jackson, Negro heavyweight, in a three-round exhibition at the Olympic.

Major league baseball soon may have a "father and son act." Francis Raymond Connolly, below, 23-year-old son of Tommy Connolly, dean of American league arbiters, aspires to follow in his father's footsteps. He will be employed this season in the Piedmont circuit.

BEACH SEMI-FINALS IN WILLOWICK GOLF

Frank ("Red") Angell, Glen Waterbury, R. J. Morey and F. Osborne have qualified for the semi-finals of the Willowick Golf club's spring handicap tournament which goes into its third round this week.

Angell eliminated B. R. Manker, 2 and 1; Waterbury beat R. Couch, 2 and 1; Morey defeated R. F. Campbell, 3 and 2, and Osborne won from Ray Chapman, 4 and 3, in second round matches.

Results of matches in other flights:

Second flight—Fred Robertson d. Jack Blecher, 2 and 1; John Davis d. P. B. Pearson, 3 and 1; M. Ainsworth d. C. A. Bond, 2 and 1; P. Adams d. E. Christensen, 2 and 1.

Third flight—E. H. Guthrie d. G. McConnell, 2 and 1; Ralph Ware d. J. Biers, 3 and 1; E. Laffitter d. J. Moore, 2 and 1; C. C. Gibbs d. Bob Miller, default.

High school men who have indicated they will be on the Cook handwagon in September are Doyle Gilbert, Jim Daneri, Garth Olsen, Tom Beasley, Melvin Maxwell, Hideo Higashi and Jimmy Hall, all from Santa Ana; Paul Jungkelt and Boege of Anaheim; Clarence Preston of Huntington Beach, Les Pulsom of Garden Grove, and "Bud" Staples of Tustin.

Additional to his veterans, Cromwell has Dick Barber, William Graber, Cliff Halstead, William Stokes, Clarence Berry, Kenneth McKenzie, Duncan McNaughton, William Brannan, Roy Delby, Vic Fitzmaurice, Art Woessner and Earl Callahan.

RIVERSIDE AND CHAFFEY ALSO ON GRID LIST

Santa Ana junior college will play the University of Southern California freshmen in the Los Angeles Coliseum September 26 in a preliminary to the Trojan-Santa Ana varsity game, Bill Cook, Santa Ana coach, announced today.

This will be the fourth time that the Dons have opened the Trojan-Babe football season. Last year the yearlings played here but in 1925, when Santa Ana won the Southern California jaycee championship, Cook's team played the Frosh a scoreless tie in the Coliseum.

Coach Cook also has pre-season games tentatively scheduled with both Chaffey and Riverside, strong colleges in the eastern division of the conference. It is probable that Santa Ana will meet Chaffey at Chaffey September 19, and Riverside here October 3.

A Don trip to Kesar stadium, San Francisco, for a return engagement with Menlo junior college of Menlo park is possible also. Cook and Coach Bud DeGroot of Menlo made tentative arrangements for a contest when the Northern California delegation was here last season.

With at least 12 lettermen returning and an influx of promising material from various Orange county high schools probable, Coach Cook is confident the Dons will boast one of their strongest squads next fall. The list of veterans is headed by Captain Mike Santa Cruz, a tackle who figures to be the best in the conference. Other lettermen counted on are Bill Harkleroad and "Toby" Greenow, ends; Harry Clayton, tackle; Wayne Bartholomew, and Kermit McCoy, guards; Curt McCoy, center, and Emmett Seaword, Bert Wilkins, Erv Watkins, Miles Privett and Kiyoshi Shigekawa, backs.

This list will be augmented by such experienced 1930 substitutes as Kiyoshi Higashi, Paul Bruce, Gil Kluthe, Bob Dupree, Charley Crumrine, Verne Schappner, Elmore Lord and Don Stracusa. Dick Lusk, a member of the Don troupe two years ago, also has indicated he will return to college in the fall.

Among high school men who have indicated they will be on the Cook handwagon in September are Doyle Gilbert, Jim Daneri, Garth Olsen, Tom Beasley, Melvin Maxwell, Hideo Higashi and Jimmy Hall, all from Santa Ana; Paul Jungkelt and Boege of Anaheim; Clarence Preston of Huntington Beach, Les Pulsom of Garden Grove, and "Bud" Staples of Tustin.

ORGANIZE GROWERS OF PASSION FRUIT

Great interest is being centered on California's newest industry—passion fruit culture. This tropical fruit was first introduced into California some years ago, but it has been but recently that the crop has assumed commercial proportions, and with usual California perspicacity in discerning a potentially great industry, local growers already have taken steps toward the formation of an association somewhat after the pattern of the California Fruit Growers association, and the Avocado Growers association, for the successful and profitable marketing of the crop.

The first practical development in this direction is the organization of a company in Los Angeles and Hollywood, known as Passionade Products company, Ltd., at 4669 Hollywood boulevard, which converts the passion fruit pulp into a carbonated beverage under the copyright name of Passionade, and which is contracting with growers throughout the state for their crops on a one to ten year basis. Various other food and medicinal products also will be produced from the passion fruit, including jams, jellies, syrups and even a cereal.

Passionade Products company, in instituting the movement for encouraging passion fruit culture in California, offers an ounce of prime quality passion fruit seed for planting purposes, entirely free of charge or obligation to any grower who writes to the company's office.

Passion fruit being a very prolific plant this amount is sufficient for quite a considerable planting, and it is anticipated that growers will hasten to avail themselves of this opportunity.

A missionary tea was held at the home of Mrs. Maxie Cowling one afternoon at which 12 members of the society and friends were in attendance. Mrs. E. Ray Moore won first prize in the games.

SEASON POT-ROAST WITH SUGAR AS WELL AS SALT

Combined Flavors of Sugar and Salt Blend Deliciously with Meat

These are days when there are always bargains on the meat counter. A lady who bought a chuck-roast for 45 cents—made a tasteful discovery by cooking it as follows: Sear and brown both sides of the meat in an iron or pot-roast kettle containing two or three tablespoonfuls of fat. Then sprinkle top surface of the meat with sugar as well as salt. Add about a cupful of water, then cover the kettle and cook for an hour. Turn the meat and sprinkle newly exposed side with sugar and salt. Continue cooking until the meat is tender, adding just enough water to keep the meat from burning. Serve with the gravy which remains in the kettle, thickened with flour if you wish. You'll be surprised at the unusual, full-bodied flavor in the meat as well as in the gravy. Cheap cuts of lamb respond to this seasoning if you prefer that meat to beef. Vegetables also are more tasteful when a dash of sugar to a pinch of salt is added. Most foods are more delicious with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

of intoxication when they appeared before Judge Charles Kuchel in the justice court yesterday to answer to the charges and were fined $25 each. They both paid the fines and were released. They were arrested on a complaint signed by T. W. Scudder and pleaded guilty upon appearing to answer the charges.

A complaint signed by L. N. Nicholson was filed with Judge Kuchel yesterday charging G. A. and Nina McClure, of Corona, with being intoxicated and possession of liquor. They appeared before Judge Kenneth E. Morrison in the Santa Ana justice court and posted bond of $500 each. They will be tried by Judge Kuchel.

TELLS POLICE BOOZE STOLEN: GOES TO JAIL

Santa Ana police have turned out to be burglars in the opinion of F. E. Mullins, arrested Saturday night on a charge of possession of liquor, after city officers, led by Chief of Police Floyd W. Howard, are asserted to have found a quantity of whiskey and alcohol in his home.

When police raided the house, they found the liquor, but there was no sign of Mullins. So, the police gathered up the liquor and came back to the station. A short time later the police telephone rang and it was Mullins. Some "burglars" had been in his house, he reported. The police chuckled and promised they would be right out to see what it was all about. Mullins waited and when the police drove up, officers invited him to take a ride which ended at the county jail, where he was booked for possession of liquor.

Yesterday in police court Mullins was still doubtful as to what it was all about. He pleaded not guilty to the charge and his bail was set at $400. He is expected to come into court for trial on Tuesday.

H. N. Lee, whose home also was visited by police officers Saturday night and a quantity of beer confiscated, pleaded guilty to possession of liquor in police court yesterday and was fined $50. He paid the fine.

FORFEITS $50 BAIL

ANAHEIM, May 19.—A. C. Cox, of Corona, forfeited $50 bail yesterday when he failed to appear before Judge Frank Tausch in the recorder's court to answer to charges of intoxication and possession of liquor. He was arrested Saturday night by Officer Sidebottom, who, in a report filed at the police station, declared that Cox had run his car in a ditch south of Anaheim and had started breaking bottles containing liquor when he appeared on the scene. Officer Sidebottom managed to obtain one of the bottles, which was held for evidence.

PEACE GROUP ORGANIZED AT MEETING HERE

With its avowed purpose "to study the problems of international relations, to promote intelligent and constructive public opinion regarding international issues and to support measures and individuals who will promote better international understanding and good will and for the purpose of promoting peace throughout the world," permanent organization of the Santa Ana Council of International Relations was effected last night. The organization meeting was held in the First Methodist church.

J. F. Burke was elected president of the new organization by the unanimous vote of the members. The Rev. P. F. Schrock was elected vice president and Miss Fannie Peace secretary-treasurer. S. M. Davis, Jack Green, junior colleague from Orange, L. L. Beaman and Clarence Gustlin were elected to membership on the executive committee to serve with the elected officers of the organization.

Formation of the Santa Ana council was the direct result of a recent address delivered in this city by Frederick Libby, secretary of the National Council for the Prevention of War. A congratulatory letter from Libby and offer of assistance to the new organization was read at the meeting last night.

The Rev. Mr. Schrock presided as chairman of last night's meeting during the adoption of the constitution and election of officers. Following the election he officiated as vice-president in the absence of the newly elected president, Mr. Burke.

Prior to adoption of the constitution and election of officers, Dear W. T. Boyce, of the Fullerton Junior college, outlined briefly past work and the future program of the Fullerton International Relations Council. This group was organized six years ago and has adopted as one of its major projects the presentation of a peace pageant and program on Armistice eve each year.

Included in the constitution adopted last night were two clauses affecting membership. The first clause outlined requirements for membership as including "any person endorsing the purpose of this council and paying the annual dues." In the second clause the annual dues were set at $1 for adults, 50 cents for college students and 25 cents for high school students.

In explaining the membership fees Beaman, chairman of the constitution committee, said that a determined effort would be made to secure the support of high school and college students for the new organization.

As the first item of business to be taken up by the Santa Ana council Dr. George A. Warner, pastor of the First Methodist church, read a telegram from students of the University of California at Los Angeles requesting the organization to endorse their move to have military training at the college made optional with the students rather than compulsory as is the present rule.

In a brief discussion of the request it was revealed by McKee Fisk that, through a recent ruling by the United States attorney general, land grant colleges, under the law of 1861, are required to offer military training to students but that it can be made optional. The

SCULPTURE IS EXPLAINED TO B. & P. W. CLUB

Although Martha Oathout Ayres, Los Angeles sculptor, definitely disclaimed any ability as a public speaker, she held the attention of the Business and Professional Women's club members yesterday at their noon luncheon in Ketner's cafe as she related some of her experiences as a sculptor and told phases of the work.

The clubwomen learned the processes by which an armature, or framework of the proposed piece of modeling, is constructed. It is essential that this armature should be firm and secure, and the speaker told of her dismay once when working on a large piece, to find the whole thing collapsed in her studio only a few hours before it was due for inspection.

She told some of her experiences in connection with an exquisite Madonna study which she displayed, and of the care which she exerted in selecting a tiny Jewish baby for the infant. She was so appreciative of the privilege of using the baby as a model that when the work was completed and cast, she made a duplicate to present to the parents thinking they too would be interested in owning a copy. Unfortunately they were not at all impressed by the fact that their child had been used with the Madonna, and refused the gift.

Mrs. Ayres has done much work in modelling designs for the motion picture studios, and described some of the creations, among them the grotesque dragon which is to be seen in one of the sequences of a recent Emil Jannings picture, as a part of his frenzied imaginings.

At the conclusion of her talk, the speaker permitted the clubwomen to examine the various studies she had brought for their inspection including a beautiful bronze, "The Bashful Baby," now owned by a Long Beach physician, and a terracotta child study, "Calling the Birds," used as a fountain in a Los Angeles church patio.

Mrs. Ayres came to the clubwomen as a courtesy to Mrs. Anita Alexander, of the city library, chairman of the May program committee.

In the business meeting preceding her talk, Mrs. Marshall Northcross, president, announced the meeting of the Book Review section for Friday night with Mrs. John A. Tessimann, 309 East Seventeenth street. Mrs. Tessimann will review "Years of Grace" by Margaret Ayer Barnes. She also revealed that Miss Nancy Elder, Y. W. C. A. secretary, would be leaving soon for a summer in Europe. Miss Elder, who was present, stated that she would sail on one of the British liners, the S. S. Minnedota, and would spend the greater part of the time in Germany, France and the British Isles.

ITS DAY IS DONE

The Rochester hotel at Orange, shown here, soon will be but a memory of the hectic boom which swept Southern California in the eighties. Tomorrow the work of tearing it down will begin. The building no longer was finished than the boom broke, leaving it to stand for nearly half a century as a memento of a vanished era.—Photo by Rundell.

DISMANTLING OF ROCHESTER HOTEL WILL REMOVE RELIC OF SOUTHLAND BOOM PERIOD

A long-forgotten splendor broods over the old Rochester hotel which has stood on West Chapman street in Orange for nearly half a century. It is the splendor of things about to take their places with the shadows of the past—a glory like the final flash of dying embers before they grey into ashes.

Tomorrow the work of tearing down the hotel will begin and the old structure which has been so integral a part of the city of Orange soon will be leveled, its high walls reduced to piles of brick, put together with feverish haste during the boom days, which lasted from 1888 to 1889.

The hotel, which seldom has served the purpose for which it was erected, was built at a time when there were few homes in Orange. It was designed by C. B. Bradshaw, veteran architect of Orange, who planned the lovely white stairway which leads from the main hall; the spacious rooms, the suites on the second floor, many of which have open fireplaces, the court which dived the back of the building into two sections, and the two towers at the east and west sides of the building, which were planned as bridal suites.

The hotel was begun at the same time the Rosemore hotel in Santa Ana was being built and Bradshaw relates that when the walls had been built to about the height of four feet, the brick supply became depleted, as the same brick yard in Santa Ana was furnishing material for both structures. Then began a frantic search on the part of the builders to find brick clay which would be of the same color and quality as that already used. The clay was found on North Batavia street in Orange, and a brick yard established.

The building cost originally about $65,000 and when it was completed, the boom broke and the big sample rooms which had been built for the convenience of traveling salesmen seldom were used.

CONCLAVE OF VETERANS IS REPORTED ON

The largest and most successful convention of the Disabled American Veterans of the World war was concluded Saturday evening when officers for the ensuing year were elected at a late hour. Over 600 delegates from all over the state were on hand, and with a large coterie of visitors present, the total number was well over the 1000 mark.

This convention proved conclusively that the delegates are utterly opposed to any movement suggestive of propagandists when resolutions were passed unanimously objecting to unsubstantiated rumors concerning responsible business and financial concerns. This action coincides with similar statements on the part of state, county and city officials. The abolition of military training in schools also was objected to and the D. A. V. organization favored adequate army and naval forces as a guarantee of peace.

Numerous resolutions were passed regarding legislation passed or coming up for consideration and these will be forwarded to the national convention for further action when it convenes at Wilkes-Barre the last week in June. Important changes also were made in the constitution and by-laws of the state department. The budget submitted at this year's convocation was by far the largest in the history of the D. A. V. in California. The largest gain in membership also was reported and is in part responsible for the slogan of the organization of being the fastest growing veteran organization in the country.

Officers for the coming year were elected at the last business session Saturday. Charles C. Morrison, of West Los Angeles, was elected commander, and L. L. Kramer, of Bakersfield, is the senior vice commander. The district commanders are as follows: District No. 1, Joe Riley, of Oakland; district No. 2, Z. Lymel, of Fresno; district No. 3, Thomas Gavigan, of San Fernando hospital; district No. 4, Alex. Zauri, of San Diego. Commander Morrison will announce appointments of other officers and committees. Modesto was selected for next year's convention unanimously.

Delegates from the Jack Fisher chapter, D. A. V., to this year's convention were L. A. Riehl, H. O. Rasmussen, Harry S. Pickard, Frank Wolters, Harry D. Edwards, William J. Murphy, James B. Thompson and David R. Day. Some 25 members of the local chapter spent at least one day at Santa Monica and participated in the festivities.

WILL INCLUDE CITY PROPERTY AT BIRCH PARK

Following the filing of a petition for street lights in a district near the business section of the city, a week ago, at which time it was learned that there were 40 percent of the property owners in favor of the plan, the city council, last night instructed Clyde Downing, city attorney, to prepare plans for the new improvement.

A number of the proposed new standards will be placed on city property, around Birch Park, at a cost to the city of some $3,000. Councilman Paul Witmer voted against the proposed improvement, other members of the council voting in favor.

The lighting district calls for standards on Ross street from Second to Fourth street; Birch street, Second to Fourth street, Third street, Ross street to Broadway; Second street, Ross to Sycamore streets.

MUNICIPAL HEAT

WINNIPEG.—An interesting experiment started here six years ago has developed into a valuable reality—the installation of municipal heat in hundreds of buildings and homes in the city. Heat is provided by a central plant, which furnishes steam heat to each building through special insulated pipes from its boilers. By erecting this central heating plant, the city has done away with many of the single chimneys and has reduced the fall of smoke dust considerably.

S. A. BAPTIST CHURCH GROUP AT CONVENTION

Many members of the Santa Ana Baptist church and members of other Baptist churches in the county are in Redlands today attending the opening session of the Southern California Baptist convention which is being held in that city this week. Others are planning to go for other special sessions which interest them on various days of the convention.

The convention was held in Santa Ana last spring when the First Baptist church and the Rev. Harry Evan Owings, pastor, were hosts to approximately 1000 delegates and visitors.

The Women's Baptist Missionary society is holding its annual meeting today and the annual ministers' conference is to be held this afternoon. The opening session of the convention will be held tonight in the Redlands First Baptist church, Cajon and Olive streets. The convention will close Friday night, which is known as "Young Peoples' Night."

The Rev. Mr. Owings is on the program for the Laymen's dinner meeting, and the Rev. Otto S. Russell, former pastor of the Santa Ana church, who is now executive secretary of the work in Southern California, will address the convention at the Wednesday morning session.

Delegates from the Santa Ana church include Lulu Minter, L. A. Atkinson, A. M. Robinson, Mrs. L. L. Marchant, the Rev. H. E. Owings, Elmer Steffensen, W. I. Gibbs, J. J. Harrison, H. M. Culter, Mrs. R. E. Coulter and P. H. Peters.

The thirst for education in Japan is amazing. To learn English speech and English writing is regarded among Japanese coolies as the most obvious pastime for their scanty hours of leisure.

Pretty Appointments Mark Shower For Bride-elect

Miss Sophie Ellen of Orange, who on May 31 will become the bride of Ray Price, also of Orange, was the guest of honor at a delightful party of Saturday afternoon, when her co-workers of the Orange County Title company joined in a gift shower in the charming new home of Mrs. Albert Mucken-thaler (Marie Rudolph) at 1189 South Van Ness avenue.

It seemed especially appropriate that an orange color scheme should be employed by the Orange County Title company for this party. Orange was the color of the bride's gown, and the bride's color was effectively used in the tall spikes of gladioli arranged in ornamental baskets, and in the vivid-petaled coreopsis in large black bowls.

Bride was introduced soon after the guests arrived, and scores tallied on the gay little cards resulted in first place for Miss Irene Tibbs; second to Miss Marie Ellen, and low to Miss Vena Belle Bryant. Desirable prizes were given to each, and at the same time Miss Sophie Ellen was presented with a miscellaneous assortment of gifts to be used in her future home.

For the refreshment hour, Mrs. Mucken-thaler served the card table with pretty Madeira liqueur, centering each table with a crystal basket of vivid nasturtiums. A pressed salad was served with hot rolls and coffee, with a dessert course of angel food cake with whipped cream.

Guests invited to share the enjoyable afternoon included Lorene Hansen, Hannah Douglas, Dorothy Fink, Dorothy Beckman, Elvira Todd, Blanche Holloway, Irene Tibbs, Phoebe Simpson, Mabel M. Witmer, Elizabeth Campbell, Gladys Wahl, Alice Board, Jennieville Eckley, Grace Puterbaugh, Calla Newton, Minnie Harris, Amanda Thee, Rue Suman, Milly Galbreath, Vena Belle Bryant, Louise Bryant, Gertrude Greene, Lucy Doty, Adelaide Cochran, Marie Mucken-thaler, Genevieve Fisher, Marie Ellen, Paula Ellen and Harriet Whidden.

The marriage of Everett Berry of Santa Ana to Miss Alzona Chase, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester S. An enjoyable musical program was featured and included vocal solos by Miss Helen Dalsell of Long Beach, Miss Edith McDonald and Miss Marjorie McDonald of Laguna Beach, Miss Carolyn Billingsley and Horace Berry of this city. Miss Edith McDonald acted as accompanist.

Many lovely gifts were showered on Miss Chase, including a walnut veneer cedar chest from Mr. and Mrs. Berry. The affair was a miscellaneous shower. February Bride Finds Herself Honored at Gift Shower

Mrs. James Merigold, (Myrtle Illingworth), and Miss Vivian Larson were co-hostesses at a shower of attractive appointment, given recently in the home of Mrs. Merigold, 118 North Van Ness avenue, as a compliment to Mrs. Gordon Beckley, formerly Miss Marian Marsh of Tustin. It will be remembered that Miss Marsh and Mr. Beckley were married in Yuma on St. Valentine day at a double ceremony in which Miss Crystal Talley and Emmett Mallott were the other happy couple.

Bridge was introduced as the evening diversion, and Miss Sally Coy of Orange held high score while Mrs. Marion Henry (Frances Wickersheim) was consoling. After the pretty prizes had been admired, Mrs. Merigold and Miss Larson arranged the card tables with elaborate linens and graceful flower clusters for serving inviting strawberry tarts with whipped cream, coffee, nuts and sweetmeats.

Following the refreshment interval, Mrs. Beckley was presented with the lovely gifts which her friends had selected for her. These were in wide variety, including linens, crystal and kitchen utensils.

Sharing the hospitality of the co-hostesses were their honor guest, Mrs. Beckley, Mrs. Angelo Marsh, Mrs. Emmett Mallott, Mrs. Marion Henry of Anaheim, Miss Charlotte Chapin, Miss Sally Coy and Miss Mary Chaffin.

Chapter Members Have Pretty Affair For Their Mothers

With Mrs. Fred Rowland, Mrs. Earl Morrow and Miss Gertrude Montgomery as hostesses, members of chapter A.B. P.E.O. held a tea yesterday afternoon in honor of their mothers in the home of Mrs. Victor Montgomery, 1418 North Main street.

In keeping with the day was the program for the afternoon. T. E. Stephenson gave a talk on the "History of Orange County," illustrating it with pictures which provided a "fair party." Winning approval was the rainbow race, resulting in each participant receiving a desirable gift. In an article race Gloria Kaiser was the winner.

After indulging in other games and contests, Caroline and her guests adjourned to the dining room where a prettily decorated table was centered with a large cap bearing gifts for all present. Smaller hats were at all the places, with balloons and whistles as additional favors. The little honorees received many presents.

Those present, other than "Babs" were Edna Brown, Linwood, Dolores Ward, Los Angeles, Najla Simons, Anaheim, and Pauline Randall, Nadine Hayes, Gloria Kaiser, Jeanne Jacobs, Frances Jacobs, Bernadine Humphrey, Martha Blanche Litten, Dora Bow, Donna Bow and Marjorie Shoemaker of this city.

Delayed Birthday Celebration Is Happy Event

Unable to have a party several weeks ago at the time of her birthday because of illness in the family, little Caroline "Babs" Markwood celebrated Saturday afternoon, entertaining a group of girls in her home, 1655 East Fourth street. Her mother, Mrs. C. C. Markwood, acted as hostess, and invited several mothers to share the afternoon with the children.

The affair was appropriately called a "fair party." Winning approval was the rainbow race, resulting in each participant receiving a desirable gift. In an article race Gloria Kaiser was the winner.

Club Members Join In Making Plans For Shower

Eloquent of the spring months in all their delicate charm of bloom was a party given the past week in the home of Mrs. N. E. Watson, 601 East Walnut street, honoring Mrs. Earl McBay. The affair was planned by members of a bridge club, and came as a complete surprise to the honoree.

On arriving at the Watson home with Mrs. Thomas Tournat, in whose home she had been a dinner guest, Mrs. McBay found the group of friends assembled in her honor. Tables were spread with blue or orange covers centered with miniature umbrellas shading cleverly dressed dolls, all in readiness for the dessert course served. Place-cards were tiny crocheted booties in yellow, tied with blue ribbons, while blue bassettes served as cups. All appointments matched with a large yellow rose, in whose petals she found many gifts from her club members. Mrs. McBay was Miss Cleo Allen and Mesdames Worth Alexander, E. D. Boynton, C. V. Cratsenberg, Frank Dane, Orlo Householder, Kenneth King, Marcus Lassiter, L. B. Laudersbach, R. P. Meads, Harold Moore, Harold Smith, Thomas Smith, Thomas Tournat and Mrs. Watson.

Junior College Moavs Hold Progressive Dinner Party

Motoring to Laguna Beach for the first course of a progressive dinner, freshmen members of the Junior college Moavs and their honor guests, the graduating sophomore women, were entertained in the home of Miss Kathleen Covern. The next two courses of the enjoyable dinner planned by the hostess group, were served in Garden Grove in the homes of Miss Eleanor Wisner and Miss Helen Campbell.

For the dessert course, hostesses and guests sped merrily to Orange where they were entertained in the home of Miss Dulcie Green. Decorations throughout the affair had been gay and colorful, and the approaching graduation was suggested in table appointments planned by Miss Green. For the sophomore honorees found black and white garlands leading from their places to the center of the table where tiny dolls in caps and gowns, were grouped around a larger doll in the same scholastic costume.

Moavs who were guests at the delightful affair were the Misses Gladys Earley, Evelyn Parks, Ruth Brubaker, Velma Witt, Geraldine Cole, Maybelle Ball, Marie McGinnis, Helen Estock, Marcia Elliott, Margaret Westover, Joanna Day and Louella Marshall and hostesses were the Misses Dulcie Green, Jane Cunningham, Elizabeth Riniker, Kathleen Covern, Hazel Elton, Helen Campbell, Lucile Crawford, Eleanor Wisner, Elizabeth Skiles, Edith Bailey and advisor, Miss Zena Leck.

Hostess Compliments Her Husband on Natal Day

An enjoyable birthday affair of the end of the week was that held in the Bingham Watson home in Garden Grove, when Mrs. Watson entertained a few friends in observance of her husband's birthday anniversary. A tamale dinner was served and a pink color scheme was employed by the hostess at her charmingly appointed table with pink rosebuds in slender crystal vases, as the flowers used.

A session of bridge was enjoyed during the evening, and results of the contest revealed Mrs. Delbert Johnson and Gray Snyder holding first honors while Mrs. Gray Snyder and Delbert Johnson were second high.

Afternoon of Bridge Is Pleasant Event

Pleasantly informal was a party of last week when Mrs. C. F. Rathbone was host to a small group of friends who met at her home, 1427 Maple street, for an afternoon of bridge. Gladioluses and wild flowers were used in decorations of the home. Dainty refreshments climaxed the interesting card session.

Those sharing the hospitality of Mrs. Rathbone were Mrs. Eda Berry, Silver Acres; Mrs. Claude Brown, Mrs. Earl Lents and Mrs. Edward W. Cochems, Santa Ana.

The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

A Dessert and Dutch Potatoes

With fresh fruit coming along, it is not a hard matter to decide "what to have for dessert." Berries with sugar and cream may be your choice for ordinary days, but for feast days and high occasions, do try Frozen Strawberries.

Just prepare them as for table use, mash and make as sweet as you'd like them unfrozen, then add enough more sugar to make them too sweet. That seems a funny way to tell you, but it is the only way I can describe the degree of sweetening needed for this frozen berry dessert. Turn the mashed berries and their juice into the freezing pan, put them in at ordinary ice-cube temperature and forget them until dessert is ready to serve.

This dessert will freeze in the time it takes ice to freeze. Serve the frozen berries in sherbet glasses with a spoonful of unsweetened whipped cream over the top, and some sort of small cake.

Tomorrow I will tell you how to make a new and sum'shus creamy orange sherbet in your mechanical refrigerator.

TODAY'S RECIPE DUTCH POTATOES

6 potatoes
6 frankfur sausages
6 slices bacon
Plenty of black pepper
1-4 cup hot water

—Contributed.

"Frankfurters" may not be your choice of sausage for this recipe. They are good, but so are several other kinds. If you want to be real swanky stuff the potatoes with canned Vienna sausage. If you are in a hurry and want something cheap and filling, stuff the potatoes with plain pork sausage, dressed up with a little sage and chopped onion.

Select plump, even sized potatoes, scrub them well, then with an apple corer or small knife, dig a tunnel from end to end. Fill the tunnel with a sausage, or stuff with the bulk sausage meat and place them in a baking pan. Over each potato drape a thick slice of fat bacon, put plenty of pepper over the potatoes and slip them into a very hot oven to quickly crisp the outside skin. Reduce the heat after 10 minutes, add the hot water and bake until well done. Baste occasionally with the hot bacon fat and water.

Anchor the strips of bacon with toothpicks.

Let this be the meat-and-potato portion of the meal. Serve one of the many fresh green vegetables now in season. Two would be better.

The calories for each potato will average around 250. Half of this amount will be starch, and the other half will be divided evenly between the fat (bacon) and the protein (sausage meat).

Have you ever had the experience of hiring a man to refinish hardwood floors and then have him leave them a messy smeared abomination? I did, and this spring I got together all the information I could find on the correct way to refinish floors and then, with the help of my trusty cleaning woman, I did the job myself. In the current leaflet, REFINISHING YOUR OWN FLOORS, I have told exactly how I went about it, and—just send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and let the leaflet tell its own story.

Wednesday the recipe will be Crabmeat Hollandaise served in pastry cases. This is a delicious dish for an entree, or for the main supper or luncheon dish.

ANN MEREDITH.

Pleasant Afternoon Is Devoted to Bridge

Choosing a variety of colorful May flowers as her floral decorations, Mrs. Emma Kellogg was hostess to a few intimate friends in her home, 408 Roe Drive, recently.

In the afternoon bridge contest, Mrs. Robert E. Smith succeeded in scoring high. Delectable refreshments, served at the card table, concluded the happy affair. Guests of Mrs. Kellogg were Mrs. Laura Sanborn, Mrs. Robert E. Smith and Mrs. Edward W. Cochems, Santa Ana.

Fraternal Brotherhood

Motoring out to Irvine park Friday evening, approximately 100 members of the Fraternal Brotherhood shared a wiener bake and evening of dancing as the first of a series of similar affairs to be held during the summer months.

The men of the Brotherhood were hosts, serving wieners with buns, potato chips, pickles and coffee, as the result of a contest that is now being conducted between men and women of the lodge. There will be an ice cream supper in the near future, at which the women will return the hospitality.

There were several other picnic parties at the park Friday night, and everything seemed unusually gay and colorful. The various merry-makers joined in dancing in the pavilion as the finale to the evening.

On Friday night, May 22, the Fraternal Brotherhood will hold a covered dish dinner at 7 o'clock in K. C. hall with initiation to follow. The Junior Brotherhood will meet at 5:30 o'clock that same day, the young people to have their covered dish supper also with initiation rites to follow.

OKES LOITERING

SAN FRANCISCO. — Loitering, according to the opinion of Federal Circuit Judge Rudkin, is not a criminal charge, and cannot be prosecuted. He recently ruled in this manner after Camello Anduza, Hawaiian, has been arrested for loitering. "The majority of mankind spend a goodly part of their waking hours in waiting or idling their time," he said. "In our streets are thousands of idle men, and are we going to add to their misfortunes by declaring them lawbreakers?"

other escapades. In the end, however, he understands her true worth and they look forward to the future together.

In the supporting cast are such sterling players as Marjorie Rambeau, Irene Rich, Hale Hamilton, Ted Prouty, Conchita Montenegro, Albert Conti, Henry Armetta and George Davis.

The story then carries on through 1917—the war, prohibition and its attendant, illegal traffic in liquor. The boys, now grown up, enter into the beer racket and become veritable leaders in their line. James Cagney and Edward Woods play the parts of the grown-up gangsters with a spontaneous ability which lends the film the final touch in realism. Cagney, particularly, leads this parade of stardom with a powerful performance which will long stand out in the mind of any audience. This picture reveals him as an actor to be reckoned with in any list of filmdom's best.

Joan Blondell, Jean Harlow, Ma Clark and Mia Marvin provide the feminine interest—but not in the manner of the old crook pictures. There is no sentiment lost, and the girls present moving characters in this vivid drama.

PUBLIC ENEMY TRUE STORY OF GANGLAND

Gangland has at last come in for a searching inquiry via the films. "The Public Enemy," the Warner Bros. film which opened at the Fox West Coast theater yesterday, gives the first vital portrayal of crookdom that has yet been attempted in the movies. It is devoid of over-emphasis on the love element, although this enters into its fabric, and presents instead an absorbing panorama of the growth

They'll Send Post Card On Next Visit

ANAHEIM, May 19.—Two visitors had a peculiar reception when they arrived in Anaheim yesterday. As they were walking quietly around the corner of the 300 block on East Valencia street, they were suddenly confronted by two Anaheim police officers.

Upon being questioned, they told the officers that they had just arrived from Kansas and were trying to locate relatives who lived on Valencia street and who knew nothing of their presence in town.

Mrs. H. P. Davis, 317 East Valencia, had called the police station and asked police to investigate a car bearing a Kansas license that was parked around the corner, the occupants of which seemed to be acting suspiciously.

COLLEGE GROUP TO APPEAR AT CLUB SESSION

Among the special features planned for the entertainment of the guests at the Garden club dinner to be given at Hotel Laguna Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock, will be music by a trio of talented Whittier college boys.

Delyn Hornady will play a new instrument, the marimba, accompanied at the piano by Clarence Peterson. Violin solos of a lighter nature will be given by Leon Burford, who will be heard in a classical program on June 13. This dinner hour music will be followed by a short inspirational talk on "Gardens of the World" by the noted lecturer, Capt. Dudley Corlett.

After the dinner the guests will be entertained by a lecture on California gardens, illustrated with colored slides. This will be given in the lounge of the hotel. The speaker will be the well known garden editor, Mrs. Helen King.

EXPERIENCES OF WRITERS TOLD AT BEACH PARTY

LAGUNA BEACH, May 19.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Bent were hosts Sunday evening at their home, Cancion del Mar in Three Arches, to a group of Laguna and out of town visitors at an informal house party.

An impromptu program followed the serving of refreshments, Gilbert Wilson singing his "Firefall Song" and other selections of his own composition. Mrs. Wilson, who writes the words to his music, accompanied him on the piano. He gave a brief history of the writings of the song and told of the many letters received from all parts of the United States concerning it. The song is about the fall of fire given each evening at 9 o'clock at Camp Curry in Yosemite valley.

S. S. McClure told anecdotes of his travels and adventures with helpless or lost travelers, many humorous angles of these adventures being presented. Frank W. Cuprien played several numbers on the piano, also reciting poems. Eugene Swarzwald told something of the magazines which he publishes.

Anne Shannon Monroe told of the quick success of her first novel and of the means by which she got it published, crediting her success to her complete ignorance of the steps usually taken. Her humorous account of the manner in which she met Andrew McNally, of the two weeks she allowed herself in which to write her novel, and of the characters and circumstances surrounding her later books brought laughter and applause.

Her books are "Eugene Norton," "Making a Business Woman," "Happy Valley," "Behind the Ranges," "Singing in the Rain," which has run into 27 editions and is in every country in the world; "Hearth of Happiness," "The World I Saw," and "Feelin' Fine," her most recent book. The devotional exercises were in charge of Miss Leslie Smith. Mrs. C. C. Fulton was responsible for refreshments and Miss Ruth Crosby, president of the society, presided at the session. Light refreshments of tea, wafers and candy were served during the evening.

THE TINYMITES
STORY BY NAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

Back into town they came, by chance, upon a pretty Chinese dance performed by little native girls, all dressed in colors bright. A platform stood out in a park and Scoutly shouted, "What a lark! Let's join the crowd and sit right down to watch this thrilling sight."

And so they settled down once more. Said Clowny, "What's the whole thing for? It must be someone's birthday!" Mister Trav-
"These dances, as a rule, are put on by some public school. When parents see their youngsters dance it makes them feel real proud."

The pretty dance was shortly o'er and then applause came in a roar. The Tinsles clapped their little hands to show they liked it, too. A little tot dropped to her knees and sang a number in Chinese. "I'd like to meet her," Clowny said, when her sweet song was through. The Travel Man said, "Not to-day 'cause we must be on our way. I know where there's a mule cart that will furnish us some fun. The mule's so kind he's safe and sound. We'll each take turns in driving 'round." And so they started walking though the bunch preferred to run.

They found the car and, my 'twas queer. Said Clowny, "Hey you lads, look here. It only has two great big wheels and they are made of wood. Let's all hop on and ride at once. I'll drive and do some clever stunts." The Travel Man replied, "All right, but drive just as you should."

"Don't try to pull off any tricks or you will get into a fix." The Tinsles then climbed aboard. The mule pricked up his ears. Brave Clowny promptly cried, "All set!" And all the others yelled, "You bet!" And then they started down the road amid real happy cheers.

(The Tinsles see the Great Wall of China in the next story.)

RULES

1. In playing golf on the Missing Letter Links the object is to change one word to another in a given number of strokes which is par. For example, to go from TEE to PIN in three strokes sounds hard but isn't: TEE-TIE-PIE-PIN. It's probably more difficult on a real course.

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage. 2. The order of the letters cannot be changed.

FINE to ARTS—Surely a letter links puzzle isn't one of the FINE ARTS, but you'll find shooting today's hole just as enjoyable. See if you can beat par.

How to Test Your Own Fitness To Drive an Automobile

Over a million people are killed or injured in auto accidents every year, and to check this awful toll, safety authorities have compiled this examination which everyone behind a wheel can give himself or his friends to help make the highways safe

By ISRAEL KLEIN

TWENTY-SEVEN MILLION passenger cars, trucks and busses in the United States, traveling a total of 162,000,000,000 miles last year—Only 660,000 miles of more or less improved highways, ranging all the way from graded earth to concrete, and most of this mileage in the form of city streets—Millions of cars, billions of miles, wider and faster highways—traffic, traffic and yet more traffic—Then the accidents. In 835,250 of them in this country in 1930, 32,500 persons were killed and 962,325 were injured. Automobile mileage last year decreased 10 per cent, according to authoritative figures. Yet the number of automobile accidents went up 12 per cent, deaths more than four per cent and injuries, 13 per cent!

What's the answer? License every driver in the country, then take his license and his right to drive away from him for a while if it is found that he has been the cause of any accident in traffic. Automotive, safety, business, social and economic associations of the country demand it. But while three-fourths of the states are still without drivers' license laws, or have a form of law that is considered below standard, it may not be amiss for the serious and well-meaning automobile owner in any of these states to take stock of himself and his car for the combined safety of himself, his passengers and others in the street. Such self-examination may help reduce the rising accident rate and avoid the difficulties compulsory license laws are designed to prevent.

THE process of examination is simple, and few persons need more than a few hours study of state and municipal traffic laws, rules and regulations, and a reasonable amount of driving practice to pass the examination. A driver, to be eligible for a license, must be able to distinguish between the colors of red, green and amber at a reasonable distance. Still, color blindness is not an absolute bar to operating an automobile. Persons so afflicted may confine their driving to streets without traffic lights, unless the colors are placed uniformly on all light units. Applicants with defective vision must provide themselves with corrective glasses. They must be able to read, within a few feet, the regular traffic signs observed on the highways.

The applicant must be otherwise physically fit to drive, and his automobile, especially the lights and the brakes, must be in perfect order.

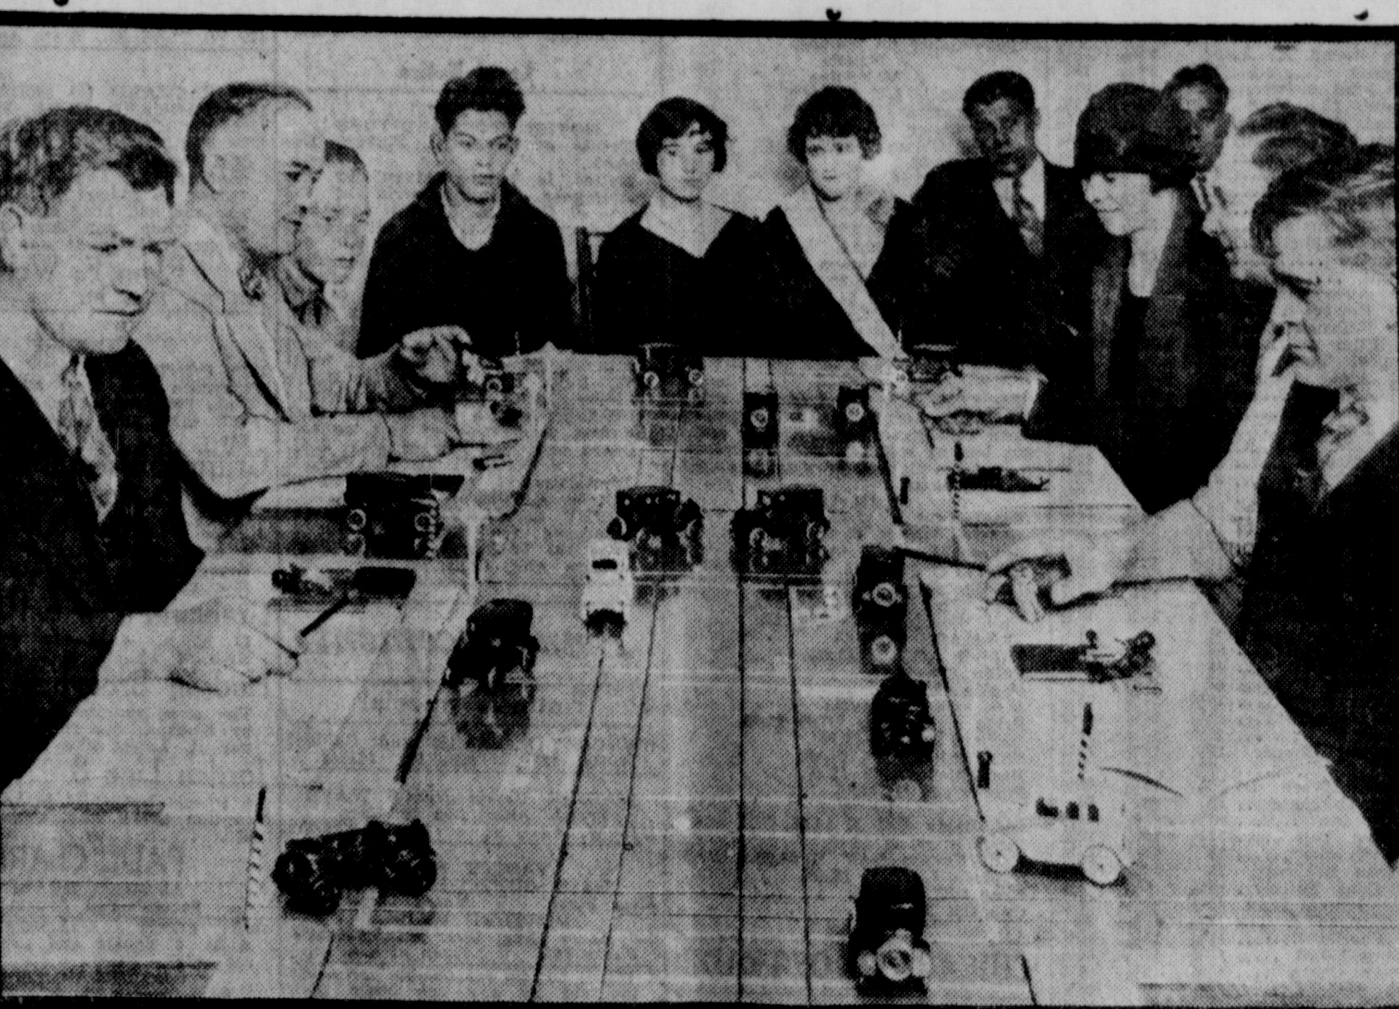

After the physical examination, and examination of the automobile, comes the operation test, then the mental test. J. S. Baker, of the National Safety Council, recently made the rounds of the eastern states that required licensing of drivers and subjected himself to examination in order to get an idea of what these tests are like.

His experience in 10 of the states has led him to outline a standard driving test and a sample series of questions which would represent in a general way the average type of examinations prevailing in these states. The driving test includes the requirement of nine significant operations, all under the eye of an examiner sitting alongside the applicant. The mental examination that follows consists of actual questions taken from examinations in about seven of the licensing states, all together being an average and typical group of questions for such a test.

NOW be your own examiner, or have some one give you these tests, and see how far you can go with them. You might, at the same time, try the tests on a friend and check up on his driving ability and his knowledge of the traffic laws.

In the driving test, the following instructions are to be followed:

1. Operate the motor vehicle over a two mile course that will take you through both business and residence districts.

One way to learn the traffic rules without crumpling any fenders . . . or ruining any dispositions. . . . A group of motorists in Los Angeles using toy automobiles on make-believe streets . . . under the guidance of an expert . . . to get straight on what is expected of a driver in city traffic.

2. Apply both foot and emergency brakes suddenly.
3. Direct your car across two or three busy intersections.
4. Make at least two complete stops in traffic, one in a traffic lane and another at the curb.
5. Make at least two right and two left turns.
6. Stop and start going up a 10 per cent grade—that is, 10 feet up in each 100 feet forward.
7. Turn around between curbs on a 20 to 28 foot street, preferably with a slope of five per cent, a pronounced crown or deep gutters.
8. Run in reverse 50 feet.
9. Park parallel to curb between two cars or other obstacles 20 feet apart, or length of your own car plus five feet.

Here's how to check these operations. Consider yourself or your subject as having failed in each of the nine tests if—

1. You show evidence of inexperience, poor gear shifting, repeated stallings, poor steering control, too much speed at intersections, poor judgment in traffic, excessive use of second gear, disregard for pedestrians and unusual nervousness.
2. Either hand or emergency brake fails to stop or hold the car properly.
3. You fail to comply fully with requirements of traffic signs or signals you pass.
4. You neglect to signal with each maneuver.

(Copyright, 1931, by EveryWeek Magazine—Printed in U. S. A.)

A common driving fault. . . . The car to the right is making an unnecessarily wide right turn . . . crossing the traffic line and forcing the car coming from the other direction to cut suddenly over to the curb.

This sketch-diagram shows roughly what is required of a man who applies for a driver's license. Could you pass?

5. You cut corners, swing wide, or fail to signal when necessary.
6. You roll back more than one foot in starting.
7. You climb either curb or obstruct traffic to the extent of causing other vehicles using the road to stop.
8. You weave back and forth excessively or fail to look behind sufficiently.
9. You touch either vehicle or climb the curb.

HAVING passed this test, try the sample quiz. The questions may require answers slightly varying in detail according to the traffic laws prevailing in your state or community. But the answers given after the list of 15 questions are those based on the uniform vehicle code of the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety and come fairly close to being correct everywhere. The answers follow the questions, numerically, but try to answer the questions yourself before checking with the correct answers. Here they are:

1. What difference does a "stop"-street make in the rules about the right of way?
2. What must you do when you overtake a car going the same way you are and want to pass it?
3. How fast may you drive without having the law consider your speed improper (a) in a business district, (b) in a residential district, and (c) out in the open country?
4. What must you do when you come up behind a street car which is letting people on or off?
5. Which of these must you have on your car: spare tire, tail light, bumpers, horn, rear view mirror, spot light, tow rope, emergency brake, muffler?
6. May you park in front of a fire hydrant and go into a store for a minute if you leave your engine running?
7. If headlights from an oncoming vehicle blind you, what is the safest thing for you to do and why?
8. When parked at the curb, what is the most important thing to do before you start the car, and why?
9. Why may you not follow a fire truck closer than 500 feet?
10. If you have to stop when going uphill, what must you guard against when you start up again?
11. Where must you carry your driver's license and car registration card?
12. What must a driver do when he leaves his car alone in the street?
13. When may you drive without a license?
14. What lights must a car have for night driving?
15. How must the number plates be put on car?

NOW check your answers with these correct answers, furnished by Baker himself:

1. Little difference. After a driver on the cross street has stopped, he must yield to any vehicle in the intersection or so close to it as to be dangerous. Then he may go ahead, and drivers on the through highway must give him the right of way. A driver on the through street does not always have the right of way.
2. Warn the driver ahead by sounding your horn, always, when in open country and whenever it is necessary for safe driving in business or residential districts. If you have to drive on the left side of the road, you must also make sure that you do not interfere with oncoming traffic.
3. (a) Twenty miles per hour, (b) 25 miles per hour, (c) 45 miles per hour.
4. Stop back of the nearest running board or door until passengers have reached a safe place, except where there are safety zones.
5. Tail light, horn, rear view mirror if vehicle is constructed or loaded so that the driver cannot look back; emergency brake, muffler.
6. No.
7. Slow down or stop as near the right edge of the roadway as possible.
8. Look behind and signal oncoming driver.
9. Because you may interfere with other fire apparatus and because a high-speed procession following a fire engine is dangerous.
10. Rolling back.
11. Whenever you are driving.
12. Stop engine and set brakes.
13. Never on public highways without license or instruction permit.
14. Two headlights and one tail light.
15. One in front and one behind, fastened so as not to swing, not less than one foot from the ground and unobscured by bumpers or other parts of the vehicle or load.

These questions and answers represent the standard requirements of a uniform vehicle code that has been drawn up by the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety, of which President Hoover, as secretary of commerce, was first chairman.

Working with the National Conference are such interests as the American Automobile Association, the National Safety Council, the United States Chamber of Commerce, the United States Department of Commerce, various insurance, railway, automotive and allied associations, and the traffic authorities of virtually all the states and larger cities of America.

LESSONS FROM SOCRATES

It is unfortunate when an educator dams the opinions of students and impugns the motives and inspiration of their conclusions as did Dr.
Frederick Woellner, professor of education at the University of California at Los Angeles, yesterday. The most precious and rare habit to be engendered in an institution dedicated to learning is thinking. When one or two or a dozen or a hundred students depart from prevalent procedure to challenge mores and habits it should be regarded as a hopeful sign in an institution, that somehow the students are being inspired to think. Their thinking may be wrongly inspired, it may, of course, be that the verbiage of someone who is flying around in the clouds is being swallowed by them just as blindly as other precepts are being followed by the majority. Thinking is not encouraged, however, by calling those departing from the pack "immature and headlong youths," and "wild young bloods whom we must sit on until they learn enough to get into the line of conduct which the race has proved to be progress."

Dr. Woellner should go back to Socrates so as to develop the proper reverence for the questioning attitude. The world has become accustomed to radicalism from young men and women in college, if Dr. Woellner hasn't. It is the radicalism of these young men and women graduating into the world which keeps the rest of us in the line of progress. It is not difficult to distinguish real convictions from mere plays to the gallery, without discouraging by "brow-beating" the boys and girls who give some evidence of thinking.

After all, in this matter of military training the students are just securing the right of personally deciding, at the University of California, whether they shall take military training or not. It is a matter which has been left to the students in the University of Wisconsin, University of Pennsylvania, Northwestern University, Harvard University, University of Michigan, Yale University, and many more of the leading universities.

Having read the Paris peace pact, as they do in school, the students are undoubtedly hopeful that the military machine is or soon will be outmoded. Let us recall the first two articles of this pact, signed by all the civilized nations of the earth.

Article 1 reads:
The High Contracting Parties solemnly declare in the names of their respective people that they condemn recourse to war for the solution of international controversies, and renounce it as an instrument of national policy in their relations with one another.

Article 2 reads:
The High Contracting Parties agree that the settlement of solution of all disputes or conflicts, of whatever nature or of whatever origin they may be, which may arise among them, shall never be sought except by pacific means.
Maybe they are memorizing these articles in school now, along with the Gettysburg Address, we haven't been in school for a while. It would be quite natural.

Then there's the telegram messenger who considered himself a "wiry" young man.

THE DEFEAT OF BRIAND

It must have been a keen disappointment to
M. Briand to be defeated for the presidency of France. He consented reluctantly to be a candidate for the position, but, naturally, once a candidate, he wanted to win. His defeat may be attributed to the too hearty support of the Socialists to his candidacy, which, together with the defection of the extreme radicals, gave the majority to his opponent, M. Doumer.

The defeat of Briand, however, has another phase. As foreign minister, he has been a tower of strength to France and to the peace of Europe. His influence in that position would have been very much missed had he been elected to the presidency. If those who are chagrined by the defeat of Briand will think of that phase it may be of some comfort. As President of France, he would still have much influence over national politics. But it would be the result of personal influence rather than because of his position as the titular head of the Republic.

We suspect that M. Briand had the same feeling in the matter as M. Clemenceau. Clemenceau wanted the position to cap the climax of his life. So perhaps, Briand, after bearing the heat and the burden of the more active work in national affairs, rather welcomed the honor of crowning his life in the more ornamental position of the presidency. No doubt, the French presidency is a great honor; but we must not confuse the office with the dignity and power of the American presidency.
Its character has been well stated in the comparative statement once made of the American president, the French president, and the British sovereign. It was said that the British king reigns, but does not rule; the American president rules, but does not reign; the French president neither reigns nor rules. Nevertheless, it is a high honor to be president of France, and,
as to Clemenceau, the defeat for the high honor must be a distinct disappointment to M. Briand.

ARIZONA SUIT DENIED

Yesterday the United States Supreme Court dismissed the suit of the state of Arizona to block the construction of the Boulder Dam project. Thus is the constitutionality of the Swing-Johnson Boulder dam bill sustained.

Those who have been close to the situation, either through their own awareness of the vital need in Southern California of the water from the Colorado, or more closely bound to the Boulder dam project through leadership on the Colorado River Aqueduct projects of the Metropolitan Water District and most particularly those who were instrumental in the passing of the Boulder Dam bill are rejoicing today. The future of Southern California is glorious indeed. The need for water has stood like an impenetrable curtain between California today and in the future. How far Southern California could go depended wholly on this matter of water.

While there was little reason to believe that the suit of Arizona would be permitted to frustrate the fulfillment of the immediate needs of the hundreds of thousands of people of Southern California, yet there was always the dire possibility that before the dam was well started it might be tied up in litigation which would mean costly delay.

There remain problems in the matter of allocation of water to be worked out in the natural course of events. They will probably be worked out just as favorably as this has been,
for the gods themselves smile on Southern California.

Which Side Should Be Buttered?

Christian Science Monitor

What is the proper shade of brown for a slice of toast? Here is a question that such an organization as the Institution of Politics might well take up at one of its round tables. Toast is an international topic. Wherever there is civilization there is toast. The transmutation of a slice of ordinary white bread into golden brown breakfast toast is no mean process. The history of the culinary arts is filled with toast failures.

In the old days bread was toasted on the top of the kitchen range with varying degrees of success. But now the great bulk of the millions of slices of toast consumed daily throughout the world is the product of electrical devices or gas stoves. In some hotels and restaurants an endless chain arrangement passes the bread through a heat bath and returns it as a finished product.

But a high grade piece of toast depends on more than a machine. It matters little whether it is gas, coke, coal, charcoal or electricity that furnishes the heat, or whether the toaster is a silver-plated contraption that flops the bread over for toasting
"on the other side," the bread must be right for toasting and of a right thickness, and the heat must be applied at the right temperature for the right length of time and with a right distribution over the entire toastable area. And this is accomplished largely by a close watch. Then and then only is the household immune from the cry of—"Oh, Mom, hurry up, the toast is burnin'!"
Even at that, the question still remains unanswered, "Which is the right side for buttering?"

New York Times

The Federal Government has gone into the guidebook business. The latest venture of the Department of Commerce in overseas sales promotion is a "Guide for American Business in France," prepared by Thomas Butts, Trade Commissioner in the Paris office of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

Before he was promoted to be Assistant Secretary of Commerce Dr. Julius Klein used to preside over that bureau, like a whirlwind over the Atlantic, lashing the commercial attaches into a fury of activity. Members of the staff are apparently still filled with something of the old zeal and enthusiasm, very much needed nowadays, when all about them is ink and indigo. If American toothpicks can be sold to a starving Chinese baby, Director Cooper will sell them.

The new guide book covers in detail such practical points as the enviable general economic situation in France, selling American merchandise
there, French commercial law, forms of organization, taxation, banking and commercial practice.
One looks in vain for a chapter on what might be called the amenities of doing business on the Continent, the preliminary social flourishes, and so on, but no doubt Mr. Butts could coach any tyro on that subject better in a personal interview.

All You Want to Eat for Sixty Cents

San Bernardino Sun

A chain of restaurants in New York has made an interesting and profitable discovery in the psychology of restaurant-eaters. It announced experimentally in one of its places, that it would serve any customer whatever he wanted from the bill of fare for 60 cents, and as much as he wanted. The plan made such a hit that several more of the restaurants have taken it up. They report that it has increased the number of customers by 150 per cent and the total sales by 110 per cent.

It was feared that gormandizing patrons might reduce profits by gluttonous appeals for second and third helpings. It is found, however, that only one person out of 20 asks for another helping when he can have it without additional cost.

This seems curious, when you consider how people come back for more when they are eating at home. Eating in public, they are more hesitant about it. Or do they merely need more time to get used to the idea, so that they can repeat orders without embarrassment?

New Ships of Desert

Oakland Tribune

From Syria a train of motor cars which departed in April has traveled to England. Seven other cars which left Palmyra about the same time expect to arrive at Kashgar, Chinese Turkestan, in time to meet the first unit before many weeks have passed. The Trans-Asia expedition, following camel trails with caterpillars will have joined forces and the world may look for some interesting pictures and reading matter.

"The camel, proverbial ship of the desert, is completely outclassed by these new transports which, while they cannot go five days without a drink, can carry ten to twenty times as much cargo (including their own gasoline and oil) and are capable of from 3 to 30 miles an hour, against the average camel's 3 to 4," writes Maynard Owen Williams, staff correspondent of the National Geographic Society with the expedition, which is headed by Georges-Marie Haardt, noted French explorer.

The New Shoes Pinch!

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE BROOK

(Collaboration by a poet and an engineer)

I come from haunts of coot and hern,
I make a sudden sally,
And sparkle out among the fern
To bicker down a valley.

But long before I reach the sea
I'll prove my worth and power,
And engineers shall measure me
In kilowatts per hour.

I wind about and in and out
With here a blossom sailing,
And here and there a lusty trout
And here and there a grayling.

But at the foot of yonder hill
A dam for a detourment,
I'll pause and run a flour mill
With my unresting current.

I steal by lawns and grassy plots
I slide by hazel covers,
I move the sweet for-get-me-nots
That grow for happy lovers.

And when the ground is hard and dry,
And summer days grow hotter,
I'll be diverted to supply
Some extra city water.

I murmur under moon and stars
In brambly wildernesses,
I linger by my shingly bars
I loiter 'round my cresses.

Then out again I curve and flow
With resolute endeavor,
For men may come and men may go
But I toll on forever.

Should Wage Rates be Reduced?

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

How can a business concern keep up its wage rates when the price of its product has gone down?

In some cases the answer is increased efficiency of labor, resulting in larger output per dollar of wages. In other cases, wage rates can be maintained by reducing other costs. In still other cases reduction of wastes can offset loss of dollar income, and thus make wage cuts unnecessary.

It must be admitted, however, that prices and volume of sales have now fallen so far that many concerns must either reduce wage rates or go out of business. They have no other choice. In such cases, opposition to a lower scale of wages helps nobody. On the contrary, it decreases both employment and production. The 26,355 business failures in the year 1930 made a bad situation worse.

At the outset of this depression, for the first time in history everybody agreed that wage rates must be maintained. Everybody understood that nothing but consumer demand can keep business prosperous, and that the chief source of consumer demand is wages. That was progress. Nobody indulged in the old talk about wage cuts as a cure for bad business.

But unfortunately there was no general understanding of the fact that employment and wage rates cannot be maintained unless the volume of bank credit in circulation is maintained.
That is arithmetic, not theory.

Volume of bank credit was not maintained. Today the bank credit in circulation is not enough to maintain employment and wage rates at the former level. Any one can understand that who knows that five minus four is less than five.

Employers have to carry on business this week in the world as it is this week. Most of them will do all that conditions warrant, if they prevent wage rates from falling faster than the cost of living. If they do that, they will maintain real wages.
And, as we said yesterday, it is real wages, not dollar wages, that determine the standard of living.

BUSINESS WEATHER PROFITS

Business forecasting and weather forecasting offer an interesting analogy.

Weather prophecy is an old art that has been transformed into a science.

Late studies seem to indicate that measurable variations in the sun bear a direct relation to changes in local temperatures, and Charles G. Abbot, distinguished astrophysicist of the Smithsonian Institution, thinks it may prove possible to make accurate weather predictions for a week in advance by relating these solar variations to local temperatures.

Economic prophecy is still an infant science.

Until lately business played their hunches.

Rule of thumb was regnant.
Now business—wherever brains are invested in it—is leaning heavily on the statistician and the insights that come from his studies.
The communism of Russia and the capitalism of the United States alike go in seriously for economic prophecy.

The business leader wants to find ways and means of predicting with decent accuracy the business weather for a decade ahead at least.

Neither a planned nor a controlled economic future is possible apart from this development of business weather forecasting.

Man has not yet found ways and means of controlling the weather, but he has gone rather far in discovering the laws that govern weather, and this knowledge has enabled him to adapt himself more effectively to varied climates.

He must do the same in the field of economic forces.
Had the business weather prophet been developed and on the job for a long enough time prior to the market crash of 1929, there would have been no excuse for our suffering the retardation that befell us.

It may be said that the forces that govern the rise and fall of prosperity are so highly variable that economic prophecy is an un-realizable dream, but the laws that govern the weather are extremely variable, and marked headway has been made in that field.

Our profits are going to depend on our prophets.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

SKIPPING

"The teacher wants to skip Sammie. Shall I let her do it?"
"Why does the teacher want to skip him?"

"He is smart and the class is very crowded and she thinks he could go ahead."

"Is the teacher going to prepare him for skipping? Will she teach him the work of the grade he skips? No? Then he cannot skip.
Every step in the course of study is to be carefully taken.
Some need more attention than others, but the whole course is necessary if the child is to do well. No, unless he does the work of the grade he skips let him stay where he is. It is hard for a child to keep up with a class who have a good knowledge of the previous grades' work which he lacks."

But if I skip him he saves a year."

"What is he going to do with the year?"

"Do with it? What do you mean,
Do with it?"

"You say he is going to save a year. Save it from what? For what? What does he do with this year he saves?"

"He gets out of school earlier.
And goes to work sooner."

"Maybe. Many a child has skipped in school only to find himself stranded by the time he hoped to enter high school. He is outside of everything. Nobody wants him in the group. He can't play, he can't work, and he can't live with the children who are years older than he in body and mind and experiences."

After all, living is a matter of growth through experience. It takes time to gather experiences.
It takes time to grow a body. It takes more time to grow a mind.

Birthdays are not good measuring marks when it comes to evaluating power. Power is what counts and power comes by growth and discipline and achievement.

Reasonable care should be taken to see that a child is working to his full capacity, that he goes forward at his own rate of speed.
But reasonable care should be taken to see that he does not exceed his own rate of speed.

He has several sides to be considered. His birthdays are to be counted. His intelligence is to be rated. His speed of growth must be noted. The development of his body must be well considered.
His power to get along with his schoolmates must be weighed.
ALL of the child must be regarded with loving, farseeing eyes, before he is speeded through school.
Certainly he is not to be speeded to lighten the teaching load.

When a child can make two grades of one, or one and a half instead of one, he should do so,
but at the same time, his course should be enriched beyond the bare bones of facts. Rather than give him a short thin course, give him a longer broader richer one so that he enters high school and college with a fine background full of cultural values, full of rich meaning. Better spend a time in making growth rich and certain than in marking time while growth catches up to vain ambition.

DECISION ON VOLUNTEERS

On May 19, 1917, it was announced that President Wilson had decided not to avail himself of the authority to organize volunteer divisions. A provision in the draft bill gave him authority to form four divisions of volunteers if he so desired. It was understood that former President Roosevelt was to head this volunteer army.

What the president did announce, however, was that a division of the United States regulars would be sent to France at the earliest date practicable, to be commanded by Major General John J. Pershing, who had been in command of the expedition to Mexico.

The Secretary of Navy also announced on this day that 26,000

marines would accompany the Pershing expedition.
